THERE IS NO ECONOMY IN POOR FABRICS AT ANY PRICE

There is no satisfaction in poorly fitting clothes. And there is a great difference between trying to fit a man in a suit and making a suit to fit the man. Men are not built in regulation sizes like tin-pins. No two men are shaped alike, and even the best found man is not perfectly proportioned. It stands to reason that a suit intended for any of a hundred different men will not fit any one of them completely. If it is stretched or "faked" into temporary shape that shape disappears when subjected to wear and weather.

Merrill Rink Burns.

Merrill, Dec. 20.—The Palace roller rink building, owned by the Merrill Amusement company, was completely demolished by fire early this morning.

The fire was first discovered at about quarter to five o'clock, and when the firemen arrived on the scene the entire building was a mass of flames. To save any portion of the building or contents was impossible. The fire was first seen in the northwest corner of the building. It is believed that a defective chimney or stove caused it. It is the custom of the janitor at the rink to fill up the stove with wood so that the building will remain warm. It was but a short time before the entire inside was a mass of flames, and within a few moments later the roof was ablaze. After the roof had been burning about fifteen minutes, it collapsed.

The skating rink has been in operation for three seasons, the opening of the amusement hall was in February, 1908. The place was owned by the Merrill Amusement company, composed of Merrill and Wausau men. Among the stockholders are J. A. Wright, of this city, H. O. Schulz, formerly of this city, Mark Healy, David Delanger and Dan Healy of Wausau.

The building was constructed in good shape and cost several thousands of dollars, while the conveniences, including the slides and band organ, cost a great deal more money. The loss to them is complete.

The first season at the rink was a prosperous one, and it is said, although not officially, that the stockholders received dividends enough from the first season's profits, equaling the amount of their investment. Last season and this season, the patronage fell off considerably, and the cause of 1908 had died down.

The site is not owned by the Merrill Amusement company, but is rented for a term of years from Merrill people with the privilege to buy.

Whether the stock company will rebuild the amusement hall we have been unable to learn. The building was insured, and the loss to the stockholders will not be much as the insurance practically covers the loss.

A New Organization.

Last Monday there was organized in this city a concert orchestra, comprising sixteen members, which will be of the concert variety. It is made up of members of the band who take an interest in orchestra music, and the organization is one for pleasure only and is not a money making institution.

The Eagles hall has been engaged for January 5th, on which occasion the new organization will give a concert, to which a small admission fee will be charged, the proceeds to be used for the purchase of music, and the friends of the organization are invited to attend, as the whole bunch will play.

Will Have Large New Class at Business College.

The winter term at the Grand Rapids Business College will open on January 3, after the usual vacation of two weeks. The number of students in attendance is increasing every year, and a large class have already arranged to enroll at the beginning of the winter term.

If the success of a school is measured by the success of its graduates, this college certainly is successful, for its graduates are filling important positions of honor and trust throughout the country, and the demand for them is greater than the supply.

Young people are beginning to realize the fact that with a very few months of instruction they can prepare themselves, not only to hold good-paying office positions, but to get a good start in business life, where they can develop their ability.

SUNDAY SERVICE AT ST. JOHN'S CHURCH.

FINISH OF GLORIOUS CAMPAIGN IS NEAR.

Four hundred and fifty-two cities and villages, three hundred and eighty-three rural school communities, are engaged in a record breaking finish of the most glorious campaign against the damnable ravages of consumption that the state of Wisconsin has ever known.

An army of, at the least estimate, a thousand is doing its utmost in nearly every section of the state. Enthusiasm and determination are at fever heat. The spirit of the Iron Brigade is again rampant. This time the warriors are battling for the preservation of the family and the home, striking down consumption and the barriers behind which it has hitherto been safely entrenched. Every penny Christmas Seal is a bullet in the war. This state has a reputation throughout the nation for being the state in which big things can be done in a big way.

"A better start has been made in Wisconsin toward the complete wiping out of consumption than has in the same length of time at least elsewhere in the United States," says Dr. Livingston Farrand, the Executive Secretary of the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis.

The time is short, but sufficient in which to reach the leadership of the whole country which Wisconsin won by the largest per capita sale in 1909. If you have not made a contribution of at least one penny, do it now! If you can afford a good sized contribution, you can't make a better investment. Christmas will be a merrier day and more complete for everyone who has participated in the battle. There is no glory nor joy for camp followers.

Christmas Services in the Congregational Church.

An Explanation.

Since my return from Milwaukee Hospital my friends and neighbors are surprised to learn that in six weeks I had undergone an operation and had returned able to walk about and resume business at the office and my object is to try and explain, as I see it, the reasons for prompt recovery.

There are several reasons I wish to mention: First, I went trusting and believing the operation would be a success. Second, I had full confidence in the ability of Dr. J. Hayes, the surgeon who did the operation, and Third, the splendid care and nursing which I had in the Hospital, and last, but not least, the sympathy of friends, through their prayer, visits in the hospital and the many letters and postal cards received from them during my confinement,—those all combined to my speedy recovery. And I have great admiration for the skilled surgeon who is capable of restoring to health a person who, through suffering has nearly depleted of life, can, and does, give his patient to feel that he is much more interested in relieving his suffering and restoring his health than he is in the paltry dollars he receives for his services, and such a one I found in the person of Dr. D. J. Hayes of Milwaukee. T. J. Cooper.

Prof. Jackson Lectures.

Principal M. H. Jackson of Grand Rapids lectured recently at Haker-Raple, and took a number of the high school faculty with him on the cross-country drive. The little school house where the lecture was given was crowded to its capacity, with children and farm folks, who thoroughly appreciated Mr. Jackson's kindly attitude in coming to them, and heartily enjoyed his stories, laden as they were with a wholesome human message. For over two hours these people listened intently to the story of Greece, Italy, Germany and the Pannonian Play, and at the close, expressed a wish to hear more.

The schoolhouse that day had been the scene of the school exhibition. The work was still to be seen, and showed excellent work on the part of students and teachers.—Marshfield Times.

Dr. Waters' Father Passes Away.

John Waters, father of Dr. Don Waters of this city and Hugh Waters of Nokona, passed away at his home in Nokona, Ontario, Dec. 7th. Deceased was 83 years old at the time of his death. He was born in Scotland and came to Canada with his parents when 12 years old. For 42 years he was prominent in politics, being honored by the people with various positions of trust and always made good. He served several terms as a representative in the provincial legislature and for 17 years was registrar of the county of Middlesex.

A year ago he was taken ill with pneumonia and since then had been confined to his home.

High Tribute to the Late J. Waters.

The London, Ont. Advertiser pays the following high tribute to the late John Waters: "The late John Waters was an admirable type of citizen, and a no less admirable type of public man. Unlike many politicians, he regarded the platform as a serious factor in representative institutions. He met his constituents frequently to discuss with them the issues of the day and he was rewarded by their confidence until he voluntarily retired to private life. He had a more than average equipment for public service. He was highly educated and had a splendid habit of industry. He was too well informed and too conscientious to be a mere voting machine. He brought reason and integrity to the consideration of all measures. The Waters tradition is one of which North Middlesex, and many constitencies similarly favored, should cherish and aspire to."

Accident at Nokona.

George Golla, a young man employed in the paper mill at Nokona, met with a severe accident on Saturday. While working about one of the paper machines he got one of his hands caught in the winding rolls, and the result was a badly injured hand and arm, some of the bones being broken.

Charles Halvorsen and John Wollenchagen, who have been playing in the band with the Duke Fish store during the past season, returned to their respective homes in this city on Monday. The streets had been tearing in the south, which accounts for the homes in closing down for the

THRILLING EXPERIENCES IN A GREAT CITY.

Chicago, Ill., Dec. 16, 1910.

Dear Tribune:—I have noticed that when the great people of Grand Rapids make a voyage to some new and interesting locality, they write an awe-inspiring letter to one of the home papers and tell all about their trip in a manner that is almost with unusual dullness. This keenly observed custom I have vowed not to overlook; hence this letter telling all about Chicago.

To quote a hackneyed phrase, let me say that Chicago is quite a large place,—much larger than Grand Rapids. There are a good many people here whom I am not acquainted with as yet.

I had always heard that Chicago was a wonderful city, but I have not even anything very wonderful about it. Collars cost fifteen cents apiece here, the same as they do in Grand Rapids. Chicago products we hear so much about up in Wisconsin are without honor in their own town. If a merchant (meaning store keeper) down here gets hold of a few pounds of genuine Wisconsin dairy butter, he thinks he's the whole cheese and makes haste to put a big sign in his window telling all about it. They are importing Christmas trees here now; trees whose marks and pedigrees prove them to be thoroughly Wisconsin grown. A tree that sells for thirty or forty cents up there will bring no less than two dollars and a half here. No, Chicago is not seriously troubled with wonderfulness. The sun rises and sets here much the same as it does in Grand Rapids. There are English sparrows here and house flies and cockroaches, and the river banks don't begin to compare with those up home.

Seeing men killed by accident and by street cars has become a mere pastime to me. Murder and suicide are amusements that still thrive in those parts, and marriage is also a common occurrence.

There are a number of people down here who have acquired a bad habit of staying in people's skulls at night and then taking the money out of their pockets. There have been numerous hold-up demonstrations in this immediate neighborhood, which makes life here quite interesting. When I come home late at night, which is very seldom if you publish this letter, I always choose a well lighted path. I have figured out several adequate methods of squelching thugs, and yet somehow, when I think of bumping my nose against the cold, pulchre forehead of a forty-four calibre revolver, when there is nothing in sight but darkness and the gruff voice of a sneaked thug, I frankly confess that I am possessed of no surging, uncontrollable lust for the thrill and inspiration of a hold-up adventure. Yours Pathetically,

Grim Natwick.

P. S. I am not solicitous of publicity. That is not why I write this letter. Glory and popularity have never been put in the line of my life. I write you merely to let you know that I am still well and squirming. With sincere hopes that you are the same, I remain, for the second time,

Grim Natwick.

Ideal Theater Sold.

The Ideal Theater was sold last week by S. H. Smart to a party from Winona who will take charge of the place on the 26th instant. What the new proprietors intentions are regarding the place cannot be given at this time. It is not expected that any material changes will be made.

Notice.

—The Wisconsin Cranberry Sales Co. will hold its annual meeting on Wednesday, Jan. 11th, A. D. 1911, at 9 a. m. at the City Hall on west side. J. A. Gaynor, Secy.

BIRTHS.

A daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Smith Jr., on Saturday.
A son to Mr. and Mrs. Grover Stott at Babcock December 14th.

—A fine assortment of Christmas candles of all kinds at Albert Henke's.

West Side Real Estate Sold.

A deal was closed on Saturday whereby the firm of Gottschalk & Anderson purchased of Messrs. Duncan, Goe and Sutor the remaining part of the Goodman property, consisting of 108 feet frontage by 123 feet in depth, the consideration being $8000.

It is the intention of Messrs. Gottschalk & Anderson to erect a fine business place on the corner in the spring. They have not decided what the dimensions will be, but expect it will have about 60 feet frontage, two stories in height. The upper floor will probably be rented for a lodge hall. Gottschalk & Anderson have enjoyed a big business for several years and have outgrown their present quarters. They intend to make their new store one of the finest exclusive grocery stores in the Wisconsin Valley.

Biron Village Officers.

At the election held last Tuesday to elect officers for the new village of Biron, the following were those chosen:

President—John Pawley.
Trustees—Jos. Sweeney, Jas. Klappan, Wm. Hummel, Steve Huyder, John Rock, Hart Gaffney.
Clerk—Edgar Kellings.
Supervisor—Martin Pyl.
Treasurer—John Johnson.
Assessor—Fred Horton.
Constable—Archie Bharier.
Justice—Horace Weaver and Frank Pearson.

The officers are now waiting for their charter from the state, and after this arrives they will be sworn in and commence business.

MARRIAGE LICENSES.

The following marriage licenses were issued by County Clerk Eberhardt during the past week:

Wesley Dilligren Jr. of Auburndale to Miss Becker of Milladore.
Matt Schmitt to Hannah Jensen both of the town of Randolph.
Leonard M. Witte of Grand Rapids to Elsie L. Miller of the town of Grand Rapids.
George H. Hill of Glasgow, Mont., to Hazel Waters of Grand Rapids.

Was a Good Show.

"A Winning Man," presented at Daly's theater last night, was one of the best productions of the kind that has visited this city. There were many humorous situations and plenty of good music, making up an evening that seemed to be thoroughly appreciated by all.

A Bank Almanac.

In place of the usual calendar, the First National Bank in this year presenting citizens with a bank almanac, which is something new for this section. All of the really valuable features of the genuine old fashioned almanac are given, besides many other things both entertaining and instructive.

Organizations Contribute.

A good example has been set to the local organizations by the Eastern Star and the Methodist Missionary Society. The ladies of the latter organization voted $5.00 to the Anti-Tuberculosis Association and at the last meeting of the Eastern Star an appropriation of $10.00 was voted for this cause. This speaks well for the public spirit of these organizations.

To the Men and Women of Wood County.

—I hereby announce myself a candidate for the office of Co. Sup't. of Schools. Olaf D. Lamberston. Port Edwards, Wis.

—Get him a box of good cigars at Otto's.

Will Hayes, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Hayes of this city, who has been reading on the St. Paul road during the past four years, was on Sunday promoted to the position of conductor on the road. Will is a graduate of our local high school and is only 21 years of age, and his many friends here will be glad to hear of the advancement he has made.

WANTED—A girl for general housework. Mrs. T. W. Hansen.

Unlike many politicians, he regarded the platform as a serious factor in representative institutions. He met his constituents frequently to discuss with them the issues of the day and he was rewarded by their confidence until he voluntarily retired to private life. He had a more than average equipment for public service. He was highly educated and had a splendid habit of industry. He was too well informed and too conscientious to be a mere voting machine. He brought reason and integrity to the consideration of all measures. The Waters tradition is one of which North Middlesex, and many constituencies similarly favored, should cherish and aspire to."

Apples.

We have opened a Fruit Store on the East Side in the store building formerly occupied by the First National Bank. We are selling all kinds of Apples and other fruit. The price of apples ranges from $1.25 to 50c a bushel.

We want you to see what we have to offer. We know we can please you. Anybody can have good fruit at the prices we are offering. You can save money by calling on us. We will sell Bananas this week at from 10c to 15c for a dozen for the best. Other Fruits correspondingly cheap. Don't forget the place. Will take orders for delivery free of charge to any part of the city.

Accident at Nekeos.

George Golla, a young man employed in the paper mill at Nekeos, met with a severe accident on Saturday. While working about one of the paper machines he got one of his hands caught in the winding rolls, and the result was a badly injured hand and arm, some of the bones being broken.

Alex Jones, who is attending college in New York, is expected home today, to spend the holidays with his parents. Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Jones. Seth Jones, who is traveling in Mississippi and Louisiana for a St. Louis woodenware house, is also home to spend the holidays with his parents.

Charles Halvorsen and John Wollen, schlager, who have been playing in the band with the Dode Flak circus during the past season, returned to their respective homes in this city on Monday. The circus had been touring in the south, which accounts for the lateness in closing down for the season.

THRILLING EXPERIENCES IN A GREAT CITY.

Chicago, Ill., Dec. 15, 1910
Dear Tribune—I have noticed that when the great people of Grand Rapids make a voyage to some new and interesting locality, they write an awe-inspiring letter to one of the home papers and tell all about their trip in a manner that is almost with unusual dullness. This keenly observed custom I have vowed not to overlook; hence this letter telling all about Chicago.

To quote a hackneyed phrase, let me say that Chicago is quite a large place, much larger than Grand Rapids. There are a good many people here whom I am not acquainted with as yet.

I had always heard that Chicago was a wonderful city, but I have not seen anything very wonderful about it. Collars cost fifteen cents apiece here, the same as they do in Grand Rapids. Chicago products we hear so much about up in Wisconsin are without honor in their own town. If a merchant (meaning store keeper) down here gets hold of a few pounds of genuine Wisconsin dairy butter, he thinks he's the whole cheese and makes haste to put a big sign in his window telling all about it. They are importing Christmas trees here now; trees whose marks and podginess prove them to be thoroughly Wisconsin grown. A tree that sells for thirty or forty cents up there will bring no less than two dollars and a half here. No, Chicago is not serious, it's troubled with wonderfulness. The sun rises and sets here much the same as it does in Grand Rapids. There are English sparrows here and house flies and cockroaches, and the river banks don't begin to compare with those up home.

Seeing men killed by accident and by street cars has become a mere pastime to me. Murder and suicide are amusements that still thrive in these parts, and marriage is also a common occurrence.

There are a number of people down here who have acquired a bad habit of staying in people's skulls at night and then taking the money out of their pockets. There have been numerous hold-up demonstrations in this immediate neighborhood, which makes life here quite interesting.

When I come home late at night, which is very seldom if you publish this letter, I always choose a well lighted path. I have figured out several adequate methods of squelching thugs, and yet somehow, when I think of bumping my nose against the cold, useless forehead of a forty-four calibre revolver, when there is nothing in sight but darkness and the gruff voice of a masked thief, I frankly confess that I am possessed of no surging, uncontrollable lust for the thrill and inspiration of a hold-up adventure.

Yours Pathetically,

Grim Natwick.
P. S. I am not solicitous of publicity. That is not why I write this letter. Glory and popularity have never been my idols of mine. I write you merely to let you know that I am still well and squirming. With sincere hopes that you are the same, I remain, for the second time, Grim Natwick.

Ideal Theater Sold.

The Ideal Theater was sold last week by S. H. Smart to a party from Winona who will take charge of the place on the 26th instant. What the new proprietors intentions are regarding the place cannot be given at this time. It is not expected that any material changes will be made.

Notice.

The Wisconsin Cranberry Sales Co. will hold its annual meeting on Wednesday, Jan. 11th, A. D. 1911, at 9 a. m. at the City Hall on west side.

J. A. Gaynor, Secy.

BIRTHS

A daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Smith Jr., on Saturday.
A son to Mr. and Mrs. Grover Stout at Babcock December 14th.

—A fine assortment of Christmas candies of all kinds at Albert Henkes.

WANTED—A girl for general housework.

T. W. Bruzau.

West Side Real Estate Sold.

A deal was closed on Saturday whereby the firm of Gottschalk & Anderson purchased of Messrs. Duncan, Goe and Sator the remaining part of the Goodman property, consisting of 108 feet frontage by 133 feet in depth, the consideration being $8000.

It is the intention of Messrs. Gottschalk & Anderson to erect a fine business place on the corner in the spring. They have not decided what the dimensions will be, but expect it will have about 60 feet frontage, two stories in height. The upper floor will probably be rented for a lodge hall. Gottschalk & Anderson have enjoyed a big business for several years and have outgrown their present quarters. They intend to make their new store one of the finest exclusive grocery stores in the Wisconsin Valley.

Biron Village Officers.

At the election held last Tuesday to elect officers for the new village of Biron, the following were those chosen:

President—John Poseley.
Trustees—Joe. Sweeney, Jas. Klappa, Wm. Hunsicker, Steve Snyder, John Beck, Bart Gaffney.
Clerk—Edgar Kellogg.
Supervisor—Martin Pyl.
Treasurer—John Johnson.
Assessor—Fred Horton.
Constable—Aronio Shearler.
Justices—Hornoe Weaver and Frank Pearson.

The officers are now waiting for their charter from the state, and after this arrives they will be sworn in and commence business.

MARRIAGE LICENSES

The following marriage licenses were issued by County Clerk Eberhard during the past week:

Wenzel Dillenger Jr. of Auburn, Minn. to Ella Bucker of Milladore.
Matt Schiltz to Hannah Joneau both of the town of Rudolph.
Leonard M. Witte of Grand Rapids to Elsie L. Miller of the town of Grand Rapids.
George E. Hill of Glasgow, Mont., to Hazel Waters of Grand Rapids.

Was a Good Show.

"A Winning Miss," presented at Daly's theater last night, was one of the best productions of the kind that has visited this city. There were many humorous situations and plenty of good music, making up an evening that seemed to be thoroughly appreciated by all.

A Bank Almanac.

In place of the usual calendar, the First National Bank is this year presenting callers with a bank almanac, which is something new for this section.

All of the really valuable features of the genuine old fashioned almanac are given, besides many other things both entertaining and instructive.

Organizations Contribute.

A good example has been set to the local organizations by the Eastern Star and the Methodist Missionary Society. The ladies of the latter organization voted $2.00 to the Anti-Tuberculosis Association and at the last meeting of the Eastern Star an appropriation of $10.00 was voted for this cause. This speaks well for the public spirit of these organizations.

To the Men and Women of Wood County.

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the office of Co. Supt. of Schools. Clay D. Lamberton.

Port Edwards, Wis.

—Got him a box of good cigars at Otto's.

Will Hayes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Hayes of this city, who has been braving on the St. Paul road during the past four years, was on Sunday promoted to the position of conductor on the road. Will is a graduate of our local high school and is only 21 years of age, and his many friends here will be glad to hear of the advancement he has made.

THERE IS NO ECONOMY IN POOR FABRICS AT ANY PRICE

There is no satisfaction in poorly fitting clothes. And there is a great difference between trying to fit a man into a suit and making a suit to fit the man. Men are not built in regulation sizes like tin cans. No two men are shaped alike, and even the best found man is not perfectly proportioned. It stands to reason that a suit intended for any of a hundred different men will not fit any one of them completely. If it is stretched or "faked" into temporary shape that shape disappears when subjected to wear and weather.

Merrill Rink Burns.

Merrill, Dec. 20.—The Palace roller rink building, owned by the Merrill Amusement company, was completely demolished by fire early this morning.

The fire was first discovered at about quarter to five o'clock, and when the firemen arrived on the scene the entire building was a mass of flames. To save any portion of the building or contents was impossible. The fire was first seen in the northwest corner of the building. It is believed that a defective chimney or stove caused it. It is the custom of the janitor at the rink to fill up the stove with wood so that the building will remain warm. It was but a short time before the entire inside was a mass of flames, and within a few moments later the roof was ablaze. After the roof had been burning about fifteen minutes, it collapsed.

The skating rink has been in operation for three seasons, the opening of the amusement hall was in February, 1908. The place was owned by the Merrill Amusement company, composed of Merrill and Wausau men. Among the stockholders are J. A. Wright, of this city, R. O. Schulz, formerly of this city, Mark Bellis, Ovid Bolanger and Dan Healy of Wausau.

The building was constructed in good shape and cost several thousands of dollars, while the conveniences, including the skates and band organ, cost a great deal more money. The loss to them is considerable.

The first season at the rink was a prosperous one, and it is said, although not officially, that the stockholders received dividends enough from the first season's profits, equaling the amount of their investment. Last season and this season, the patronage fell off considerably, and the craze of 1908 had died down.

The site is not owned by the Merrill Amusement company, but is rented for a term of years from Merrill people with the privilege to buy.

Whether the stock company will rebuild the amusement hall we have been unable to learn.

The building was insured, and the loss to the stockholders will not be much as the insurance practically covers the loss.

A New Organization.

Last Monday there was organized in this city a concert orchestra, comprising sixteen members, which will be of the concert variety. It is made up of members of the band who take an interest in orchestra music, and the organization is one for pastime only and is not a money making institution.

The Eagles hall has been engaged for January 8th, on which occasion the new organization will give a dance, to which a small admission fee will be charged, the proceeds to be used for the purchase of music, and the friends of the organization are invited to attend, as the whole bunch will play.

Will Have Large New Class at Business College.

The winter term at the Grand Rapids Business College will open on January 9, after the usual vacation of two weeks. The number of students in attendance is increasing every year, and a large class have already arranged to enroll at the beginning of the winter term.

If the success of a school is measured by the success of its graduates, this college certainly is successful, for its graduates are filling important positions of honor and trust throughout the country, and the demand for them is greater than the supply.

Young people are beginning to realize the fact that with a very few months of instruction they can prepare themselves, not only to hold good-paying office positions, but to get a good start in business life, where they can develop their ability.

FINISH OF GLORIOUS CAMPAIGN IS NEAR.

Four hundred and fifty-two cities and villages, three hundred and eighty-three rural school communities, are engaged in a record breaking finish of the most glorious campaign against the damnable ravages of consumption that the state of Wisconsin has ever known.

An army of, at the last least estimate, a thousand is doing its utmost in nearly every section of the state. Enthusiasm and determination are at fever heat. The spirit of the Iron Brigade is again rampant. This time the warriors are battling for the preservation of the family and the home, striking down consumption and the barriers behind which it has hitherto been safely entrenched. Every penny Christmas Seal is a bullet in the war. This state has a reputation throughout the nation for being the state in which big things can be done in a big way.

"A better start has been made in Wisconsin toward the complete wiping out of consumption than has in the same length of time at least elsewhere in the United States," says Dr. Livingston Farrand, the Executive Secretary of the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis.

The time is short, but sufficient in which to crush the leadership of the whole country which Wisconsin won by the largest per capita sale in 1909. If you have not made a contribution of at least one penny, do it now! If you can afford a good sized contribution, you can't make a better investment. Christmas will be a merrier day and more complete for everyone who has participated in the battle. There is no glory nor joy for camp followers.

Christmas Services in the Congregational Church.

Exercises by the Sunday school on Saturday evening at 7:30. Songs by members of the school, solos, "The Holy City," trombone solo by Mr. Dan Ellis, the Christmas story illustrated with stereoscopic views, and the usual Christmas boxes for the members of the school. All are invited.

The following is the program for the morning service on Sunday:

Offertory
Duet—Violin and Clarinet
Dr. Bandelin and Mr. Brockhausen
Christmas Story to the Children
Anthem—"Praise the Lord".....Newkirk
Benediction
Postlude

Sermon by the Pastor Hymn—St. Louis, 179
Benediction
Postlude
Young People's Christmas service in the evening at 6:30. All are invited.

An Explanation.

Since my return from Milwaukee Hospital my friends and neighbors are surprised to learn that in six weeks I had undergone an operation and had returned able to walk about and resume business at the office and my object is to try and explain, as I see it, the reasons for prompt recovery.

There are several reasons I wish to mention: First, I went trusting and believing the operation would be a success. Second, I had full confidence in the ability of Dr. D. J. Hayes, the surgeon who did the operation, and Third, the splendid care and nursing which I had in the Hospital, and last, but not least, the sympathy of friends, through their prayer, visits in the hospital and the many letters and postal cards received from them during my confinement,—these all condensed to my speedy recovery. And I cannot refrain from saying that I have great admiration for the skilled surgeon who is capable of restoring to health a person who, through suffering has nearly despaired of life, can, and does, give his patient to feel that he is much more interested in relieving his suffering and restoring his health than he is in the paltry dollars he receives for his services, and such a one I found in the person of Dr. D. J. Hayes of Milwaukee. T. J. Cooper.

Prof. Jackson Lectures.

Principal M. H. Jackson of Grand Rapids lectured recently at Baker, and took a number of the high school faculty with him on the cross-country drive. The little school house where the lecture was given was crowded to its capacity, with children and farm folks, who thoroughly appreciated Mr. Jackson's kindly attitude in coming to them, and heartily enjoyed his stories, laden as they were with a wholesome human message. For over two hours these people listened intently to the story of Greece, Italy, Germany and the Passion Play, and at the close, expressed a wish to hear more had been the scene of the school exhibition. The work was still to be seen, and showed excellent work on the part of students and teachers.—Marshfield Times.

John Waters, father of Drs. Don Waters of this city and Hugh Waters of Nekosco, passed away at his home in London, Ontario, Dec. 17th. He was 82 years old at the time of his death. He was born in Scotland and came to Canada with his parents when 12 years old. For 42 years he was prominent in politics, being honored by the people with various positions of trust and always made good. He served several terms as a representative in the provincial legislature and for 17 years was registrar of the county of Middlesex.

A year ago he was taken ill with pneumonia and since then had been confined to his home. High Tribute to the Late J. Waters. The London, Ont., Advertiser pays the following high tribute to the late John Waters: "The late John Waters was an admirable type of citizen, and a no less admirable type of public man. Unlike many politicians, he regarded the platform as a serious factor in representative institutions. He met his constituents frequently to discuss with them the issues of the day and he was rewarded by their confidence until he voluntarily retired to private life. He had a more than average equipment for public service. He was highly educated and had a splendid habit of industry. He was too well informed and too conscientious to be a mere voting machine. # GRAND RAPIDS TRIBUNE

GRAND RAPIDS, WIS.
AGE AND HUMAN USEFULNESS.

At what age are men at their best? The pessimistic theory attributed to Doctor Osler, which he afterward repudiated, that the golden age is thirty-five, or thereabouts, that it is followed inevitably by waning powers; and that there should be provision for chloroforming all who threaten to survive the age of sixty, has never had any serious adherents. It is generally conceded that thirty-five is rather the beginning than the end of the prime of life, and that the vigorous human individual may live safely and cheerfully may do more in some important fields of activity after he has acquired the ripe judgment that comes with experience than in the heyday of the thirties and forties. Dr. T. M. Crothers of Hartford, Conn., has come forward with a declaration that is quite as interesting as the one Doctor Osler advanced, and that ought to attract equally wide attention. He says that "where there are many reasons for believing that we are young, and unknown energies are seldom used, and that in old age appeal to these powers may give us a certain vigor entirely unobtainable at any other time." He adds that "the man past sixty and from that on to eighty ought to be at his very best because life is then no experiment, and he has attained a position where he can use all his powers to the best advantage." Doctor Crothers insists that there is no glory in this, but that it is "sustained by a great variety of facts which fortunately are becoming more realized as the years go by."

A traveler in the west a decade ago was much amused at the vehicles he saw. They were all kinds of "contraptions," buggies, "dearborns"—any old thing to ride in. The people out there were living close, faring hard and saving money, says the Philadelphia Press. That's why the per capita savings bank account of Kansas exceeds that of all other states. It is astonishingly different today. At the Leavenworth county fair some days ago dozens of farmers came to the grounds in motor cars. They had paid for them, too. They had raised the wheat and corn to do it. The mere sensation of gliding swiftly over the roads where a year or so back they had condemned the "buzz" wagons which frightened their horses, gave them confidence and a new satisfaction. This is what the automobile has achieved in our country districts. It has made a modest toiler at man of new resources. It has put a machine in his hands and said, "Use it." And he is using it. He feels himself on a par with any millionaire who can afford to buy a new model every year.

The rapidity of development in this age is such as to cause many to lose sight of the fact that some of our chief industries are of comparatively modern origin. Cotton spinning has come to be one of the foremost of manufactures in this and other countries, says the Milwaukee Evening Wisconsin. But in the present form it has been in existence less than a hundred years, the first cotton-spinning mill in the United States having been started in 1811 at Fall River, Mass. That city is preparing to observe the centenary of the business, and next year will have an imposing celebration. It may be of interest to know that when cotton manufacturing was started there Fall River was known as Troy, a name which was retained until 1834. Cotton goods of various kinds are made in Troy, N. Y., and vicinity, and the anniversary of the origin of cotton spinning will enlist attention.

Wonders never cease. A woman in Minneapolis is suing for a divorce on the ground of cruel and inhuman treatment because her husband persists in kissing her too often and ardently. And others complain because they are never kissed. No wonder the poor men have been trying unsuccessfully to strike a happy medium since the world started.

Boston is developing a taste for shark meat. There is some uneasy feeling in Wall street lest the taste spread to Gotham.

A Virginia school board has established a rule that its school teachers of the softer sex must not attend dances. The board should explain whether this action is taken because the teachers are not good enough to appear at dances or because they are too good.

The arrest of a man one hundred and seven years old shows how carefully we are protected from menaces to our community.

A progressive physician claims that drunkenness can be cured by a surgical operation. Undoubtedly it can. An amputation about the region of the throat will cure the patient from drinking in perpetuity.

A hunter in Pennsylvania peeped a boy with shot, mistaking him for a squirrel. Aylators had better be careful at this season, or this species of hunter may aim at an aeroplane, mistaking it for a sparrow.

The fact that an aeroplane can ascend to a height of 9,714 feet has been demonstrated. Why should efforts to break this record be made? Why want to fly more than 9,714 feet high before starting for heaven?

No use trying for any more automobile records. A scorching in Kansas City knocked down four "blat" girls at once.

The bird men are brave men.

LORIMER ACQUITTED

SENATOR IS CLEARED OF BRIBERY BY U. S. SENATE PROBERS.

REPORT IS MADE UNANIMOUS

It Now Goes to Full Committee and Later to Upper House for Ratification—Allegations Are Unsustained by Testimony.

Washington.—The subcommittee of the congressional committee on election which investigated charges of bribery in the election of Senator William Lorimer Monday unanimously voted to report to the committee on election that the charges were without proof. The committee took up the evidence in its entirety at an executive session. It canvassed the testimony, weighed the evidence and the arguments and took into consideration all of the facts that have been advanced in connection with the charges against Lorimer. The government, launching there had been shown and foundation for the charges. The bribery had entered into the case in connection with Mr. Lorimer's election. The motion finally was offered to report to the full committee of the senate that the charges had not been proved. On this motion there was no dissenting vote in the subcommittee. Following this action the subcommittee's report will be prepared for the full committee at once, and the report will be sent to the senate within a short time.

The charges that Senator Lorimer had purchased his seat in the United States senate were first made publicly when the confession of Charles A. White, a member of the Illinois legislature from O'Fallon, was published on April 20, 1910. The names of Robert E. Wilson, Lee O'Neill Browne, H. J. C. Beckmeier and Michael Link were mentioned as having been involved in the purchase of the senatorial term. White confessed that he had been paid $10,000 for his Lorimer vote by Leo O'Neill Browne, the minority leader in Springfield. White himself was a Democrat, and Senator Lorimer had been elected by a combination of Democrats and Republicans.

Immediately after the publication of the story all the legislators involved were summoned to the state attorney's office in Chicago. Under a grilling examination lasting several days and under the threats of prosecution on perjury charges, confessions of the truth of White's charges were gotten from Link and Beckmeier. An indictment was returned at once in Cook county charging Leo O'Neill Browne with bribery, and another indictment was returned in Sangamon county carrying a similar charge against State Senator John Broderick. Robert E. Wilson was also indicted for bribery and Joseph Clark of Vandall was indicted on a charge of perjury, he having denied receiving any portion of the money alleged to have been paid him for the Lorimer vote. The indictments against Broderick, Wilson and Clark are still pending in Cook and Sangamon counties. Leo O'Neill Browne was tried twice in the criminal court of Cook county. The first time the jury disagreed, and the second jury returned a verdict of not guilty.

JUSTICE WHITE NOW CHIEF

Louisiana Man Is Confirmed as Head of the United States Supreme Court.

Washington.—President Taft Monday sent to the senate the nomination of Associate Justice Edward Douglass White to be chief justice of the United States Supreme court and the senate immediately confirmed it. The president also sent in the following nominations: To be associate justices of the United States Supreme court, Judge Willis Van Devanter of Wyoming and Judge Joseph Rucker Lamar of Georgia.

To be judges of the new court of Commerce: Martin A. Knapp, now chairman of the interstate commerce commission, for a term of five years.

Robert W. Archibald, now judge of the United States District judge for the middle district of Pennsylvania, term of four years.

William H. Hunt, now a judge of the Court of Customs Appeals, formerly United States District judge of the district of Montana, term of three years.

John Emmett Carland of South Dakota, term of two years.

Julian W. Mack, now judge of the appellate circuit court of the first Illinois district, term of one year.

To be members of the interstate commerce commission: B. H. Meyer of Wisconsin and C. C. McChord of Kentucky.

Deaths Two to Gallows. Jefferson City, Mo.—The Missouri supreme court Tuesday sentenced Mort Holman of Pike county to hang for an attack on a woman and Eugene Tucker of Greene county to hang for murder. Both executions will be on January 26, 1911.

Houses Pass Pension Bill. Washington.—The pension appropriation bill, carrying $169,225,000, passed the house Tuesday. The clause providing for eighteen pension agencies was stricken out.

Fanatics Clash in Calcutta. Calcutta.—Several combatants were killed and many injured in a serious fight Saturday between rival religious factions. The fanatics were only routed when troops charged them several times.

Run Close Small Bank. Macon, Ill.—The Farmers and Merchants bank failed to open Friday following a run. The institution is a private bank and has been operating for 40 years by L. and L. H. Flight. Deposits of $100,000 were in the bank.

E. H. Ozmun, U. S. Envoy, Dead. Constantinople, Turkey.—Edward Henry Ozmun, American consul-general here, died Friday after a brief illness. He was born at Rochester, N. Y., August 6, 1837.

SAVED FROM DEATH AT SEA

PASSENGERS AND CREW OF WRECKED STEAMER SAFE.

One Hundred and Six Persons Are Taken from Olympia in Safety by Relief Boats.

Valdez, Alaska.—All the 106 persons on the Alaska Steamship company's steamship Olympia, which went on the rocks at Blight Island, Prince William sound, Saturday night, were taken off the ship, together with the mails and baggage, and were conveyed to Valdez and Ellenaar. The Olympia left Cordova after unloading a large quantity of coal in her afterhold, and soon ran into a dense fog. The empty stern stood too high out of the water, and in the tempest the ship became unmanageable and was spun about by the wind. About midnight she went hard and fast on the Blight Island reef.

Wireless Operator Hayes sent out the distress call, which was picked up at Cordova and Valdez, and also gave as much information of the wreck as he could, for the water soon put out the fires and made the wireless unworkable. The government launch Douglas, from Port Liscomb and the steamship Inno left at once for Blight Island and took off the passengers without mishap to any of them. The crew also was saved. It is hoped to save the freight on the Olympia, but it is feared the vessel will be a total loss. A rock pierced the ship's hold. The vessel was valued at $250,000, the cargo at $50,000.

CUMMINS HITS TARIFF LAW

Begin Contest for Change in Rules to Permit Revision Schedule by Schedule.

Washington.—Contending that the present tariff law imposes excessive duties and that the country at large demands its amendment, Senator Cummins of Iowa delivered a speech in the senate Tuesday in advocacy of his resolution limiting the power of amendment of bills dealing with the separate schedules of the law. The speech was the first attack of the session on the Payne-Aldrich law, and it precipitated a general discussion in which Senators Aldrich, Hais, Lodge and Carter took part. Declaring that under existing parliamentary usage in the house and senate the amendment of a tariff law is out of the question, he contended that the first step to be taken was the modification of the rules so as to permit the amendment of the law, schedule by schedule.

Senator Aldrich expressed concurrence with the Iowa senator. "I think," said the Rhode Island member, "that we are all agreed that it is desirable to take up the tariff by subjects, not by schedules." He expressed doubt, however, as to the adequacy of the Cummins amendment to accomplish this result, contending that the adoption of the resolution would have the effect of curtailing the constitutional power of the house to originate tariff legislation. Senator Heyburn would not give assent to the proposition that all Republicans are agreed to the policy of the protective policy and declined to be committed to any other policy.

"After an experience with five tariffs, I believe that some way should be devised for the amendment of tariff laws without entering into a general revision," said Senator Lodge, planning himself squarely on Senator Cummins' side. Senator Aldrich thought there might be concurrence on the part of the two houses, but he did not accept the theory that the question could be dealt with by joint legislation.

TAKES UP GREAT PROBLEMS

National Civic Federation Meets to Discuss Trusts, Railroads and Other Matters.

New York.—President Sex Low called to order the eleventh annual meeting of the National Civic Federation and made a brief opening address in which he outlined the matters that would engage the attention of the body during the three days it will be in session.

The most important of the topics that will be considered are: Regulation of corporations and combinations, the operation of railroads and municipal utilities, compensation for industrial accidents, and arbitration and conciliation.

The federation has been organizing councils in every state in the Union, composed of representative business and professional men, and delegates from these councils are attending the meeting. There will be also special meetings of the various departments of the federation.

Dr. G. E. Vincent Is Honored. Minneapolis, Minn.—Dr. George Edgar Vincent, dean of the faculty of arts, literature and science in the University of Chicago, was Tuesday chosen by the regents to succeed Dr. Cyrus Northrup as president of the University of Minnesota and has accepted the office.

Two Killed in Explosion. Charleston, Pa.—Two men were instantly killed Tuesday by a premature explosion of dynamite at the Charleroi Commercial Works.

Take 26 Dead From Mine. Vancouver, B. C.—Reports Monday from the scene of the accident at the mines of the Western Canada collieries at Bellevue, Alberta, say 26 bodies have been recovered. One of these is the body of Fred Anderson of Mosmer, who was with the first rescue party.

Congressman Cook Stricken. Washington.—Representative Joel Cook of Pennsylvania suffered a stroke of apoplexy Monday, and is at his home here in a serious condition.

U. S. Loses Coal Trust Suit. Philadelphia.—The United States circuit court here dismissed the suit filed by the government to dissolve the anthracite coal trust Thursday, but declared the "Dempsey" iron company to be a combination in violation of the Sherman anti-trust law.

Lasker Retains Chess Title. Berlin.—Dr. Emanuel Lasker of New York Thursday retained the world's chess championship by defeating the challenger, D. Janowski of Paris, with a score of 6 games to 0.

BALDWIN IS MIFFED

GOVERNOR-ELECT STAYS AWAY FROM NEW HAVEN ANNUAL BANQUET.

Connecticut's New Executive Refuses to Sit at Same Table With Former President—Latter Is Greeted With Hearty Cheers.

New Haven, Conn.—Gov. Elect Simon B. Baldwin was not present Tuesday evening at the annual banquet of the New Haven chamber of commerce for the reason that he had refused to sit at the same table with Theodore Roosevelt. Till the last, however, the governor refused to tell whether or not he would attend the banquet and he was one of the diners who felt content that Judge Baldwin would appear at an eleventh hour appearance at the banquet hall.

Officials of the chamber here, however, had been notified. Neither they nor Judge Baldwin wished it known that he had refused to attend the banquet because any definite announcement of such action by him would have resulted in a stampede by the Democratic members of the chamber to resign.

There were 700 present when Colonel Roosevelt entered the Yale dining hall, where the feasting was held. Colonel Roosevelt was greeted with cheers when he arose to speak. "It seems to me that nothing could be so deplorable as the future of this country," he said, "than that a Republican president should appoint an ex-Confederate of opposite political faith chief justice of the United States and receive unanimous applause of his countrymen."

"With your permission I shall propose two toasts: First, to President Taft, and second, to that learned jurist, Chief Justice White."

Colonel Roosevelt spoke along lines of his speeches made in the west. He said he wished to see the hand of the state and nation placed on the great corporations, to regulate them, but added that the corporations should be treated with an exact measure of justice.

MANY ARE LOST IN CYCLONE

Advices From Spanish Frontier Say Wind Caused Disaster in Western Part of Country.

Cordoba, France.—Advices received here say western Spain has been swept by a cyclone that razed everything in its path.

Several small vessels sank in the harbor of Cordoba and a number of persons were drowned.

At Seville the river rose ten feet, flooding the valley. Several persons were killed and many injured near Bilbao.

Russia Industrial Field. St. Petersburg.—John Hays Hammond, the American mining engineer and promoter, arrived here Monday. He comes in the interest of a financial group to investigate the possibilities for the investment of American capital in Russia.

Soldier Barracks Burned. Vancouver Barracks, Wash.—Fire Monday caused by the furnace destroyed the new barracks of Battery D. Three soldiers were slightly injured. The damage is $4,000.

Casady, Plowmaker, Dead. South Bend, Ind.—William L. Casady, millionaire manufacturer and inventor of South Bend, died suddenly Saturday at his winter home, Ocean Park, near Los Angeles, Cal. Death was caused by heart disease.

Submarine Blast Hurts Three. San Diego, Cal.—By the explosion of a defective intake valve of the engine on the submarine boat Grampus Saturday three enlisted members of the crew were injured, one so badly that it is expected he will die.

Police Chief Asked to Quit. Milwaukee.—Mayor Emil Seidel Friday asked for the resignation of Chief of Police John T. Janssen on the alleged ground that the chief will not work in harmony with the city administration.

Newspaper Man Is a Bullock. Milwaukee.—John W. Schaum, formerly part owner of the Milwaukee Journal, committed suicide Friday by shooting himself through the head. Business trouble is assigned as the cause.

Wounds Rancher, Kills Self. Portland, Ore.—Frank Linaker, supposed to be from Menlo, Ia., Saturday shot Edward Naylor, a rancher at Forest Grove, inflicting a serious and perhaps fatal wound, and then killed himself.

Dump $14,000 in Opium Into River. Kansas City, Mo.—A consignment of opium valued at $14,000 was dumped into the Missouri river here Saturday by government officials. The drug was seized in raids upon Chinese dives last summer.

BADGER STATE HAS

2,333,860 PEOPLE

Gain Is Sufficient for One More Congressman.

GROWTH IS 12.3 PER CENT.

Wisconsin Ranks Thirteenth Among the States in Population—This Is the Same Position She Held in 1900.

Madison.—Wisconsin's population is now 2,333,860 as against 2,089,042 in 1900, which is a gain of 264,818 in ten years, or 12.3 per cent.

This increase is sufficient for one more congressman. The population in 1880 was 1,633,330, so the gain in the ten years following was 376,712, or 22.2 per cent.

Wisconsin ranks thirteenth among the states in population, the same position she held in 1900. In 1890 Wisconsin ranked fourteenth.

Following is a recapitulation of the population of Wisconsin as shown by the successive United States census since 1840:

1840	30,946
1850	105,919
1860	275,881
1870	1,064,570
1880	1,265,075
1890	1,939,339
1900	2,089,042
1910	2,333,860

It is apparent that some of the agricultural communities of Wisconsin will show practically no gain over the census of ten years ago, and that other agricultural sections will show a loss.

In the last decade Milwaukee gained 31 per cent, or nearly three times the percentage of gain for the state at large. Outside of Milwaukee the gain for the state was 17.276.

State Supreme Court. In the supreme court the following matters were heard:

In the matter of the petition of John F. Dietz for a writ of habeas corpus: Argued on motion to quash the writ by F. B. Lamoreaux, J. C. Davis and L. M. Sturdevant for the sheriff and by W. B. Rubin and Moritz Wittig for the petitioner.

State ex rel Dietz against Mudden, sheriff: Motion to quash the writ of habeas corpus granted and petitioner remanded to the custody of the sheriff to be held under the commitment under which he was held prior to the issuance of the order.

150. W. H. Pipkin company, respondent, against Evangelical Lutheran St. Jacob society, appellant: Argued by James T. Drought, W. F. Adams and Charles E. Wild for respondent and submitted for appellant on case and briefs.

151. Puffer et al, respondents, against Watson et al, appellants: Argued by H. E. Green for appellants and by A. R. Barry for respondents.

State 14. Union Lime company et al, appellants, against railroad commissioners of Wisconsin: Argument commenced by George Lines for appellant and by O. H. Belke and Russell Jackson, deputy attorney general for respondent. Not completed.

Crisis in Badger Student Affairs.

Students of the University of Wisconsin are anxiously awaiting the opportunity to voice their sentiments upon student self-government, and the recently developed differences between themselves and the university faculty, at the meeting called by the student interests committee.

The Rugby football proposition, the abolishing of the state high school basketball tournament at Madison, and a letter written several days since by Professor Dennis in which self-government was labeled as "silly," are responsible for the movement in opposition to faculty control.

Two radical movements, introduced at a meeting of the student conference committee, but hushed up before being made matters of record, have caused many students to feel that the faculty domination of the situation, some of whom were radically opposed to faculty domination, now feel that if students are guilty of such action as was suggested before the student conference, they should be held in check by superior authority. The actions referred to are those suggesting the removal of Professor Dennis from the student conference, and the intimidation that all possible should be done to oppose Director Ehler of the physical training department.

FOUR ARE FOUND MURDERED

Aged Woman and Three Men Clubbed to Death—Former Hired Men Suspected.

Kansas City, Mo.—Mrs. Emeline Bernhard, aged seventy-five, her son George, aged forty; Tom Morgan, a trapper, aged seventeen, and a hired man named Worth were found murdered on the Bernhard farm, in Kansas, near Martin City, Mo., 20 miles south of here Saturday, according to Prosecuting Attorney James Little of the information to this city. All the information was believed to death.

Robbery is believed to have been the motive, as the pockets of the dead were turned wrong side out. Former hired men and a stranger seen near the farm recently are suspected.

Deputy Sheriff Shot Dead.

Hutchinson, Kan.—Thomas Fowler, a deputy sheriff, was shot dead here Monday by an unidentified man, whom he had arrested on suspicion that he was a burglar.

Wounds Rancher, Kills Self.

Portland, Ore.—Frank Linaker, supposed to be from Menlo, Ia., Saturday shot Edward Naylor, a rancher at Forest Grove, inflicting a serious and perhaps fatal wound, and then killed himself.

Plan Social Service Work.

At the closing session of the Wisconsin Federation of Churches and Christian Workers a committee was created to be known as the social service commission of the Wisconsin Federation of Churches, to be composed of 15 members.

The members named are: Rev. U. G. Humphrey, Milwaukee, superintendent of the Wisconsin Anti-Slavery League; Charles J. Galusha, Madison, professor of social science, University of Wisconsin; Prof. R. C. Chapin, professor of political economy at Beloit college and author of the Russell Sage Foundation book on the Workmen's Budget; President W. O. Carver of Carroll college; Rev. R. H. Edwards, Congregational university pastor, editor of a series of studies in American social conditions; J. G. Rosebush, professor of economics at Lawrence college, and M. S. Dudgeon, secretary of the Wisconsin free library commission. These nine members were empowered to elect the remaining six members.

The functions of the commission will be along the following general lines, its specific work to be determined by the commission itself.

First, to increase the acquaintance of the people of the churches with the facts of the leading social problems, such as the labor problem, child labor, the liquor problem, poverty and the social evil, to be done by the publication of literature, the holding of meetings under the auspices of the commission, and in such other ways as the commission may choose.

Second, to serve as an advisory committee in matters of the relationship between the churches and social betterment movements.

Third, to investigate any moral, social and industrial conditions of an aggravated nature and to report its findings.

Fourth, to represent the federation at hearings of legislative committees in support of opposition to proposed legislation in the name of the Federation of Churches and Christian Workers, it being understood that the four men constitutive of the whole commission shall be necessary before such action be taken.

Country Life Conference Called.

A call for the first Wisconsin country life conference to be held at Madison under the auspices of the College of Agriculture of the University of Wisconsin February 14-16, has just been issued by Dean H. L. Russell. The purpose of this conference is to bring together those who are interested in the social aspects of country life and to discuss what has been accomplished through various agencies in this state.

The two days' program will include general discussions of the social and economic problems of country life in the state, and each afternoon will be devoted to a round table conference on particular topics. On Tuesday, February 14, the functions of the church, the business man, and the farmers' organizations will be the subjects for discussion. Representatives of these various lines of activity will be invited to describe what has actually been accomplished.

"The Country School, the Press and the Library" will be the subject of the round table February 15. This conference will be distinguished by the character of the addresses, which will consist primarily of the experiences of those in intimate contact with Wisconsin country life rather than discussions by those brought from other states. It is believed that many of the problems in rural life are being met by existing Wisconsin institutions and that a conference in which these experiences may be exchanged will result in much good.

The conference is held during the period of the ten days' farmers' course at the college of agriculture, and those in attendance will have an opportunity to get in close touch with the economic phases of agriculture as presented in this course.

Must Improve Service.

The Wisconsin rate commission is suing an order requiring the Kaukauna Gas, Electric Light and Power company to make such additions to its power plant and equipment as will enable it to adequately furnish the city of Kaukauna with proper service. The complainants in the case were the city authorities.

On complaint of the city of Washburn, the Washburn Water Works company was ordered to install meters.

A petition by the Northern Pacific railway asking for the nulling of the commission's order that switching charges at Superior be reduced from $5 to $2.50, was denied by the commission. The railroad pleaded that the switching was interstate commerce. This was denied by the commission.

Hoard No Longer Regent.

Ex-Gov. W. D. Hoard of Fort Atkinson resigned as president of the regents of the University of Wisconsin, owing to the condition of his health at the December meeting of the board.

Takes All Sheep Prizes.

Complete announcements just made of the awards at the International live stock exposition at Chicago show that the University of Wisconsin college of agriculture won 56 prizes, amounting to $387. Every prize in college classes was won by the university flock of sheep. At all of the 11 international shows Wisconsin has taken first place in the college classes. The prizes included six championship, 17 first prizes, 12 second, 15 thirds, three fourths and three fifths.

Bakers Ask Day of Rest.

The Wisconsin Association of Master Bakers will follow the bakers in asking legislation to prohibit bakers working on Sunday. They may even take a step farther and have their stores closed on Sundays. These two questions will be decided at a meeting of local bakers who are members of the state association. The meeting will be held in Milwaukee. It is probable that this time they will ask for a law which will prohibit bakers from working on Sundays but will permit them to keep their stores open.

Library Given Wisconsin.

A large collection of books on South America has just been presented to the University of Wisconsin and of the State Historical society by Patrick Brady of Milwaukee. This library was collected by Prof. Paul S. Reinsch of the University of Wisconsin on his recent trip to Argentina, Chile, and Peru, where he was one of the United States delegates.

This new collection supplements the state library and completes a similar collection presented by Mr. Cudaby in 1908.

"I May Not Have Another Chance to Thank You."

Lawrence Blakeley, lawyer, goes to Pittsburgh with the forced notes in the morning. He is attracted by the picture of a girl whom Clarence Blakeley, his own daughter, Alison West. He says her father is a rascal and a friend of the lawyer. A lady requests Blakeley to look her up. He goes to her home, but she is not there. He goes to her home, but she is not there. He goes to her home, but she is not there.

CHAPTER X.
Miss West's Request.
The surprising chance in her hand held the girl's face. All the morning of the breakfast table was gone; there was no hint of the response with which, before, she had met his non-committal smiles. She stood there, white-lipped, staring down at the dusty card. One hand was clenched tight over some small object. Her eyes dropped to it from the distant road, and then closed, with a quick, withdrawn breath.

Her color came back slowly. What- ever had caused the change, she said nothing. She was anxious to leave at once, almost impatient over my deliberate masculine way of getting my things together. Afterward I recalled that I had wanted to explore the burn for a horse and some sort of a vehicle to take us to the trolley, and that she had refused to allow me to look. I remembered many things later that might have helped me, and did not. At the time, I was only completely bewildered. Save the wreck, the responsibility for which lay between Providence and the engineer of the second section, all the events of that strange morning were logically connected; they came from one cause, and tended unerringly to one end, but the cause was buried, the end not yet in view.

Not until we had left the house well behind did the girl's face relax its tense lines. I was watching her more closely than I had realized, for when we had gone a little way along the road she turned to me almost impulsively. "Please don't stare so at me," she said, to my sudden confusion. "I know the fact is awkward. Green always makes me look glaucous."

"Perhaps it was the green," I was unaccountably relieved. "Do you know, a few minutes ago, you looked almost pallid to me!"

She glanced at me quickly, but I was gazing ahead. We were out of sight of the house, now, and with every step away from it the girl was obviously relieved. Whatever she held in her hand, she never glanced at it. But she was conscious of it every second. She seemed to come to a decision about it while we were still in sight of the gate, for she murmured something and turned back alone, smiling brightly, her feet striding up, small puffs of dust at every step. She fastened something to the gate post—I could see the nervous haste with which she worked. When she joined me again I was without explanation. But the clenched fingers were free now, and while she looked tired and worn, the strain had visibly relaxed.

We walked along slowly in the general direction of the suburban trolley line. Once a man with an empty wagon offered us a lift, but after a glance at the springless vehicle I declined.

"The ends of the bone think they are castanets as it is," I explained. "But the lady—"

"The young lady, however, declined and we went on together. Once, when the trolley line was in sight, she got a pebble in her low shoe, and we sat down under a tree until she found the cause of the trouble.

"I—I don't know what I should have done without you," I blundered. "Moral support and—all that. Do you know, my first conscious thought after the wreck was of relief that you had not been hurt?"

She was sitting beside me where a big chestnut tree shaded the road, and I surprised a look of misery on her face that certainly my words had not been meant to produce.

"You should have been a writer of ghost stories," I said, giving my pillow a thump. "And so it was fitting fully!"

"That's what it was doing," she reiterated. "Fitting fully—I mean fitting fully—how you do throw one out, Mr. Lawrence! And what's more, it came again!"

"Oh, come now, Mrs. Klopston," I objected, "ghosts are like lightning; they never strike twice in the same night. That is only worth half a cup of beef tea."

"You may ask Euphemia," she retorted with dignity. "Not more than an hour after, there was a light there again. We saw it through the chinks of the shutters. Only—this time it began at the lower floor and climbed!"

"You oughtn't to tell ghost stories at night," came McKnight's voice from the doorway. "Really, Mrs. Klopston, I'm amazed at you. You old duffer! I've got to thank you for the worst day of my life!"

Mrs. Klopston gulped. Then realizing that the "old duffer" was meant for me, she took her empty cup and went out muttering.

"The Pirate's crazy about me, isn't she?" McKnight said to the closing door. "Then he swung around and held out his hand."

"By Jove," he said, "I've been laying you out all day, hills on the doorbell, black gloves, everything. If you had had the sense of a mosquito in a snowstorm, you would have telephoned me."

"I never even thought of it," I was filled with remorse. "Upon my word, Rich, I hadn't an idea beyond getting away from that place. If you had seen what I saw—"

McKnight stopped me. "Seen it? Why, you lunatic, I've been digging for you all day in the ruins. I've lunched and dined on horrors. Give me something to rinse them down. Lollie!"

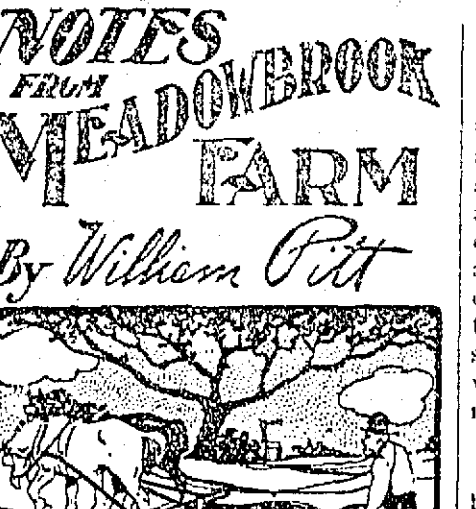

He had fished the key of the cellar from his hiding place in my shoe bag and was mixing himself what he called a Bernard Shaw—a foundation of brandy and soda, with a little of everything else in sight to give it a look of respectability and a mighty splash of water and a mighty splash of water and a mighty splash of water.

"The notes are gone, Rich," I said, as quietly as I could. In spite of himself his face fell.

"I—of course I expected it," he said. "But—Mrs. Klopston said over the telephone that you had brought home a grip and I hoped—well, Lord knows we ought not to complain. You're here, damaged, but here. He lifted his glass. "Happy days, old man!"

"If you will give me that black bottle and tongs, I'll drink that in armica, or whatever the stuff is; Rich—the notes were gone before the wreck!"

He wheeled and stared at me, the bottle in his hand. "Lost, strayed or stolen?" he queried with forced lightness.

Mrs. Klopston came in at that moment, with an egg-nog in her hand. She glanced at the clock, and, without addressing any one in particular, she intimated that it was time for self-respecting folks to be at home in bed. McKnight, who could never resist a fling at her back, spoke to me in a stage whisper.

Canada's production of 102,000,000 bushels of wheat, only 18,000,000 bushels behind the excellent crop of 1909, is considered a very good showing.

When potatoes are allowed to heat or sweat in large bins or pits, decay is quite sure to result with many of the tubers.

We should aim to breed layers that will only take two months to complete the moult and get back to laying.

Flaxseed has rarely been fed in this country, on account of its value upon the market for manufacturing oil.

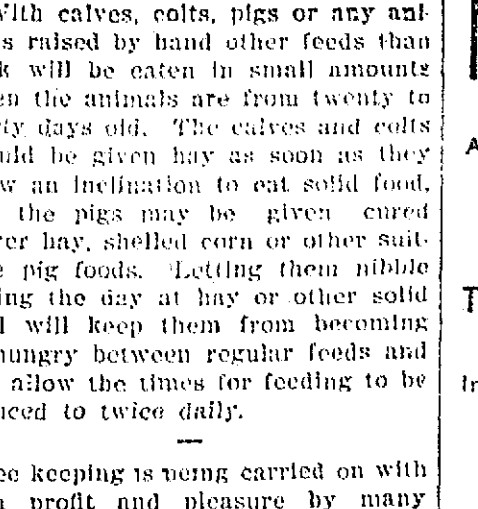

It is a poor idea to use berry crates, dry goods boxes, or anything one can find in which to make shipments.

Must One Always Smile?

GRAND RAPIDS TRIBUNE

GRAND RAPIDS, WIS.
AGE AND HUMAN USEFULNESS.

At what age are men at their best? The pessimistic theory attributed to Doctor Oshor, which he afterward repudiated, that the golden age is thirty-five, or thereabouts, that it is followed inevitably by waning powers, and that there should be provision for the aged, all who threaten to survive the age of sixty, has never had many serious adherents, says the Milwaukee Evening Wisconsin. It is generally conceded that thirty-five is rather the beginning than the end of the prime of life, and that the vigorous human individual who lives sanely and cheerfully may do more, in some important fields of activity, after he has acquired the ripe judgment that comes with experience than in the heyday of the thirties and forties. Dr. T. M. Crothers of Hartford, Conn., has come forward with a demonstration that is quite as interesting, and that ought to attract equally wide attention. He says that "there are many grounds for believing that we are not at our greatest when we are young, and that in old age we are capable of more than we are given credit for." He says that "the old man past sixty and from that on to eighty ought to be at his very best because life is then no experiment, and he has attained a position where he can use all his powers to the best advantage." Doctor Crothers insists that there is no theory in this, but that it is sustained by a great variety of facts which fortunately are becoming more realized as the years go by.

A traveler in the west a decade ago was much amused at the vehicles he saw. They were all "contraptions," they were "kinds of things," any old thing to ride in. The people out there were living close, faring hard and saving money, says the Philadelphia Press. That's why the per capita savings bank account of Kansas exceeds that of all other states. It is astonishingly different today. At the Leavenworth county fair some days ago dozens of farmers came to the grounds in motor cars. They had paid for them, and they had raised the wheat and corn to do it. The mere sensation of gliding swiftly over the roads where a year or so back they had condemned their horses, which had frightened their horses, into confidence and a new state of invention. This is what the automobile has achieved in our country districts. It has made a modest toiler a man of new resources. It has put a machine in his hands and said, "Use it. And he is using it. He feels himself on a par with any millionaire who can afford to buy a new model every year.

The rapidity of development in this age is such as to cause many to lose sight of the fact that some of our chief industries are of comparatively modern origin. Cotton spinning has come to be one of the foremost of manufactures in this and other countries, says the Milwaukee Evening Wisconsin. But in the present form, it has been in existence less than a hundred years, the first cotton-spinning mill in the United States having been started in 1811 at Fall River, Mass. That city is preparing to observe the centenary of the business, and next year will have an imposing celebration. It may be of interest to know that when cotton manufacturing was started there Fall River was known as Troy, a name which was retained until 1834. Cotton goods of various kinds are made in Troy, N. Y., and vicinity, and the anniversary of the origin of cotton spinning will enlist attention.

Wonders never cease. A woman in Milwaukee is suing for a divorce on the ground of cruel and inhuman treatment because her husband persists in kissing her too often and too loudly. And others complain because they are never kissed. No wonder the poor man have been trying unsuccessfully to strike a happy medium since the world started.

Boston is developing a taste for shark meat. In Wall street the taste spread to Gotham.

A Virginia school board has established a rule that its school teachers of the softer sex must not attend dances. The board should explain whether this action is taken because the teachers are not good enough to appear at dances or because they are too good.

The arrest of a man one hundred and seven years old shows how carefully we are protected from menaces to our community.

A progressive physician claims that dryness can be cured by a surgical operation. Undoubtedly it can. An amputation about the region of the throat will cure the patient from drinking in perpetuity.

A hunter in Pennsylvania popped a boy with shot, mistaking him for a squirrel. Aviators had better be careful at this season, or this species of hunter may aim at an aeroplane, mistaking it for a sparrow.

The fact that an aeroplane has ascended to a height of 9,714 feet has been demonstrated. Why make efforts to break this record be made? Who wants to fly more than 9,714 feet higher before starting for heaven?

No use trying for any more automobile records. A scorching in Kansas City knocked down four bladed girls at once.

LORIMER ACQUITTED

SENATOR IS CLEARED OF BRIBERY BY U. S. SENATE PROBERS.

REPORT IS MADE UNANIMOUS

It Now Goes to Full Committee and Later to Upper House for Ratification—Allegations Are Unsubstantiated by Testimony.

Washington.—The subcommittee of the congressional committee on elections which investigated charges of bribery in the election of Senator William Lorimer Monday unanimously voted to report to the committee on elections that the charges were without proof.

The committee took up the evidence in its entirety at an executive session. It canvassed the testimony, weighed the evidence and the arguments and took into consideration all of the facts that have been advanced in connection with the charges and decided there had been no proof of bribery. The charges were shown to be unfounded and the committee unanimously voted to report to the committee on elections that the charges were without proof.

The motion finally was offered to report to the full committee of the senate. On this motion there was no dissenting vote in the subcommittee. Following this action the subcommittee's report will be prepared for the full committee at once, and the report will be sent to the senate within a short time.

The charge that Senator Lorimer had purchased his seat in the United States senate was first made publicly when the confession of Charles A. White, a member of the Illinois legislature, was published on April 10, 1910. The names of Robert E. Wilson, Lee O'Neill Brown, J. C. Beckmeyer and Michael Link were mentioned as having been involved in the purchase of the seat. Lorimer had been paid $1,000 for his Lorimer vote by Lee O'Neill Brown, the minority leader in Springfield. White himself was a Democrat, and Senator Lorimer had been elected by a combination of Democrats and Republicans.

Immediately after the publication of the story all the legislators involved were summoned to the state's attorney's office in Chicago. Under a grilling examination lasting several days and under the threats of prosecution on perjury charges, confessions of the truth of White's charges were gotten from Link and Beckmeyer. Lorimer was returned at once to the state's attorney's office. Lorimer was a Democrat, and Senator Lorimer had been elected by a combination of Democrats and Republicans.

Louisiana Man Is Confirmed as Head of the United States Supreme Court.

Washington.—President Taft Monday sent to the senate the nomination of Associate Justice Edward Douglas White to be chief justice of the United States Supreme court and the senate immediately confirmed it.

The president also sent in the following nominations:

To be associate justices of the United States Supreme court, Judge Willis Van Devanter of Wyoming and Judge Joseph Rucker Lamar of Georgia.

To be judges of the new court of commerce.

Martin A. Knapp, now chairman of the interstate commerce commission, for a term of five years.

Robert W. Archibald, now United States District judge for the middle district of Pennsylvania, term of four years.

William H. Hunt, now a judge of the court of Customs Appeals, formerly United States District judge of the district of Montana, term of three years.

John Emmett Carland of South Dakota, term of two years.

Julius W. Morgan, judge of the appellate circuit court of the First Illinois district, term of one year.

To be members of the interstate commerce commission: B. H. Meyer of Wisconsin and C. C. McHardy of Kentucky.

SAVED FROM DEATH AT SEA

PASSENGERS AND CREW OF WRECKED STEAMER SAFE.

One Hundred and Six Persons Are Taken from Olympia in Safety by Relief Boats.

Valdez, Alaska. All the 108 persons on the Alaska Steamship company's steamer Olympia, which went on the rocks at Blight Island, Prince William sound, Saturday night, were taken off the ship, together with the mails and baggage, and were conveyed to Valdez and Eielson.

The Olympia left Cordova after unloading a large quantity of coal to her afterhold and soon ran into a fierce gale. The empty stern stood too high out of the water, and in the tempest the ship became unmanageable and was again struck by the wind. About midnight she went hard and fast on the Blight Island reef.

Wireless operator, Hayes sent out the distress call, which was picked up at Cordova and Valdez, and also gave as much information of the wreck as he could, for the water soon put out the fires and made the wireless workable. The government launch Donaldson from Port Liscum and the steamship Juno left at once for Blight Island and took off the passengers without mishap to any of them. The crew also was saved.

It is hoped to save the freight on the Olympia, but it is feared that the vessel will be a total loss. A rock pierced the ship's hold. The vessel was valued at $250,000; the cargo at $50,000.

CUMMINS HITS TARIFF LAW

Permit Revision Schedule to Be Considered.

Washington.—Contending that the present tariff law imposes excessive duties and that the country at large demands its amendment, Senator Cummins of Iowa delivered a speech in the senate Tuesday in advocacy of his resolution limiting the power of amendment of this subject with the separate act of the law.

The speech was the first attack of the session on the Payne-Aldrich law, and it precipitated a general discussion in which Senators Aldrich, Hale, Lodge and Carter took part.

Declaring then that under existing parliamentary usage in the house and senate the amendment of a tariff law is out of the question, he contended that the first step to be taken was the modification of the rules so as to render it possible to amend an individual provision of the tariff law without taking up the entire tariff question.

"The real issue," he said, "is whether we shall amend the rules as to the amendment of a tariff law, or whether we shall amend the tariff law itself." Senator Aldrich expressed concurrence with the Iowa senator.

"I think," said the Rhode Island member, "that we are all agreed that it is desirable to take up the tariff by schedule, by schedules."

He expressed doubt, however, as to the adequacy of the Cummins amendment to accomplish this result, contending that the adoption of the resolution would have the effect of curtailing the constitutional power of the house to originate tariff legislation.

Sensor Johnson declared that he agreed with the proposition that all Republicans are agreed to the policy of piecemeal tariff revision; he advocated the protective policy and declined to be committed to any other policy.

"After an experience with five tariffs, I believe that some should be devised for the amendment of tariff laws without entering into a general revision," said Senator Lodge, planting himself squarely on Senator Cummins' side.

Sensor Aldrich thought there might be concurrence on the part of the two houses, but he did not accept the theory that the question could be dealt with by joint legislation.

TAKES UP GREAT PROBLEMS

National Civic Federation Meets to Discuss Trusts, Railroads and Other Matters.

New York.—President Selth called to order the eleventh annual meeting of the National Civic Federation and made a brief opening address in which he outlined the matters that would engage the attention of the students during the three days of the session.

The most important of the topics that will be considered are: Regulation of corporations and combinations, regulation of railroads and municipal utilities, compensation for industrial accidents, and arbitration and conciliation.

The federation has been organizing camps of representative business and professional men, and delegates from these councils are attending the meeting. There will be also special meetings of the various departments of the federation.

GAIN IS SUFFICIENT FOR ONE MORE CONGRESSMAN.

GROWTH IS 12.3 PER CENT.

Wisconsin Ranks Thirteenth Among the States in Population—This Is the Same Position She Held in 1900.

Madison.—Wisconsin's population is now 2,333,860 as against 2,069,042 in 1900, which is a gain of 264,818 in ten years, or 12.3 per cent.

This increase is sufficient for one more congressman.

The population in 1880 was 1,693,370, so the gain in the ten years following was 375,712, or 22.2 per cent.

Wisconsin ranks thirteenth among the states in population, the same position she held in 1900. In 1890 Wisconsin ranked fourteenth.

Following is a recapitulation of the population of Wisconsin as shown by the successive United States censuses since 1840:

1840	206,904
1850	258,884
1860	328,812
1870	464,972

BADGER STATE HAS

2,333,860 PEOPLE

GAIN IS SUFFICIENT FOR ONE MORE CONGRESSMAN.

GROWTH IS 12.3 PER CENT.

Wisconsin Ranks Thirteenth Among the States in Population—This Is the Same Position She Held in 1900.

Madison.—Wisconsin's population is now 2,333,860 as against 2,069,042 in 1900, which is a gain of 264,818 in ten years, or 12.3 per cent.

This increase is sufficient for one more congressman.

The population in 1880 was 1,693,370, so the gain in the ten years following was 375,712, or 22.2 per cent.

Wisconsin ranks thirteenth among the states in population, the same position she held in 1900. In 1890 Wisconsin ranked fourteenth.

Following is a recapitulation of the population of Wisconsin as shown by the successive United States censuses since 1840:

1840	206,904
1850	258,884
1860	328,812
1870	464,972
1880	1,693,370
1890	1,969,042
1900	2,069,042
1910	2,333,860

It is apparent that some of the agricultural communities of Wisconsin will show practically no gain over the census of ten years ago, and that other agricultural sections will show a loss.

Homeowners Should Investigate

We are informed by no less authority than the Commissioner of Immigration of the State of Wisconsin that there are yet in Wisconsin more than 10,000,000 acres of undeveloped land and that it is as productive, when put under cultivation, as the high priced lands of adjoining States. If this is true, why should our people go to Canada or other distant and more or less isolated regions in quest of homes? Wouldn't it be well worth while to investigate this statement of an official of our neighboring state before leaving your good old Uncle Samuel's domain? The Wisconsin Commissioner declines to go into the details of the investigation that has been provided more recently, but takes the position that he can best serve the State by appealing to the intelligence rather than the credulity of homeowners. "Permanent homes rather than temporary rentals," is the slogan of the Wisconsin official, who says: "The man who comes to Wisconsin upon conviction is a positive quantity, he who comes on a guess is a doubtful addition,—let us reason together and if we have what you want, you are the man we want."

This cutting out of the flamboyant feature in land development and the back-to-the-home movement which appeal to the homeowners whose all is involved in his change of home.

Training Nurses, Free Scholarships.

The Philadelphia School for Nurses, 2219 Chestnut street, Philadelphia, announces that enrollment for the Spring classes will shortly begin. This institution is recognized and endorsed by leading physicians everywhere. Free Scholarships in the Two Years Course are available and provide room, board, laundering, incidental expenses and railroad fare home on completion of the course. A Home Study Course and a resident Short Course are also provided. The school provides full instruction under safe and wholesome conditions and opens the way to almost immediate financial betterment for those who need to increase their earning power. A special short course opens February 24th, 1911. This class is formed at the request of leading physicians who are anxious that some provisions be made to meet the increasing demand for nurses in all sections. This is an opening in which will be appreciated by those who need to quickly prepare themselves for self-support and nursing duty. An illustrated number of the School Bulletin, which is sent free to interested persons, gives all the details.

DEXTERVILLE (Too Late for Last Week.)

Put Burns of Pittsville was a visitor in town Monday between trains. Agnes Keenan spent Sunday at her home here.

Mrs. J. Davies of Pittsville visited friends here between trains on Tuesday.

PITTSVILLE (From the Record.)

J. A. James from out west of here is still laughing at a wolf story from Veedum. It seems that Rural Mail Carrier Dan Berter has become imbued with wolf stories as thoroughly that he couldn't help but talk. And when he did talk, he made it so strong that Mr. James can't make up his mind to believe it. The story as told is that wolves are becoming so thick near Veedum that last week they got into the hog pen of one farmer and killed five hogs for him. Now Joe thinks that these must be a new species of wolves or that the people of Veedum are wonderfully sound sleepers. Leaving all joking aside, however, there are numberless wolves in the neighborhood of Veedum as per the report of everyone coming from that vicinity.

Some of the local sinners, who have been in the woods since the deer season closed again, are of the opinion that there is a black fox in the vicinity of Pittsville, and not far away at that. They have captured several grey foxes and have sighted several red ones, but this fellow has a track and habits different from the grey and red fellows that lead the hunters to believe it is a black fox. They are doubtless sure of this for the same fox has been chased from near Aldorf this way several times by hunters there, and these Aldorf hunters are of the same opinion, that it is a black fox. When it is considered that a black fox hide is quoted at from $800 to $1,000 it will be seen that the capture of this animal would be of some considerable consequence.

Mrs. M. A. Kellham and son arrived in the city last week and is visiting with the family of her brother, Ed. Clark. She came from England in October and has been visiting in Dodge county since. Brother and sister have not seen each other for thirty-seven years.

The goods of Mrs. Bradford and Mrs. Book, from the southern part of the state have arrived in the city, those of the former going into the Hohenstein house and of the latter into the Gables.

Mrs. Emily Witter, Mrs. Chas. Kruger and Miss Inez Witter of Grand Rapids drove up to Pittsville Thursday of last week and visited at the Woodworth home here.

NEKOOSA (From the Times)

Mrs. W. H. Gailford left for Tacoma, Wash., today on account of the serious illness of her sister who has been under treatment in a hospital there. She underwent an operation a short time ago and afterward contracted typhoid fever of which there were several cases in the hospital. On account of her weak condition it is feared she may not recover.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Vilas were guests of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Vilas last Saturday evening and Sunday morning. They formerly resided at Rhinelander, but Mr. Vilas is now employed at Grand Rapids and will move his household goods there soon.

Arthur Siskles and Mike Kirst of Grand Rapids were here on Monday advertising the Eagles' grand ball which takes place at Grand Rapids tonight. They sold several tickets to people here.

Mrs. J. B. Nash of Grand Rapids attended the meeting of the Literary club at the home of Mrs. P. R. Goddard on Tuesday.

Kirk Mair of Grand Rapids transacted business here last Tuesday afternoon.

REMINGTON

John and Margaret Seebrook returned from Milwaukee where they had been the guests of their sister, Mrs. H. Seebrook a few days.

Mrs. August Seebrook was a Grand Rapids visitor one day last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Rodie and children and Mr. and Mrs. Hodge were guests at the Hess home on Sunday.

Miss Matias has visited with friends at Grand Rapids a few days the past week.

O. S. Lowe, who has been confined to his home by serious illness several weeks, is now improving in health.

Miss Agnes Keenan visited at her home in Dexterville Saturday and Sunday.

GOLDEN OPPORTUNITIES IN THE NORTHWEST.

—The Dakotas, Montana, Idaho and Washington offer golden opportunities for the farmer, the business and the professional man. Towns recently established along the new Chicago, Milwaukee & Puget Sound Railway in these states have had a phenomenal but substantial growth. These new towns offer good openings in many lines of business. Adjacent to this new line are thousands of acres of good agricultural land awaiting development and in Montana a 100 acre or 320 acre government homestead can still be secured. The Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway during 1911 will offer very low round trip fares to points in the Northwest, affording the homeseeker an excellent opportunity to visit and investigate this new and undeveloped country. For descriptive literature, fares and dates on which reduced fare tickets will be on sale, write P. A. Miller, General Passenger Agent, Chicago, 21-12-28.

J. W. Greer, Greenwood, La., suffered with a severe case of lameness. "The pains were so intense that I was forced to hypodermic injections for relief. These attacks started with a pain in the small of my back which gradually became a paralysis. My attention was attracted to Foley's Kidney Remedy and I am glad to say after using the wonderful medicine I am no longer bothered in any way by my old enemy lameness." Johnson and Hill Co.

Found for the Defendant.

In the case of Peter Tomczyk against the Badger Box & Lumber Co. the jury found for the defendant. This was a case for damages for personal injury sustained by the plaintiff while at work in the defendant company's mill, the boy having cut his hand while engaged in operating a rip saw in the mill. After hearing all the evidence in the case it was decided that the accident had happened thru the boy's own carelessness, and not thru any fault of the defendant.

WHAT CURES ECZEMA?

We have had so many inquiries lately regarding Eczema and other skin diseases, that we are glad to make our answer public. After careful investigation we have found that a simple wash of Oil of Wintergreen, as compounded in D. D. D., can be relied upon. We would not make this statement to our patrons, friends and neighbors unless we were sure of it—and although there are many so-called Eczema remedies sold, we ourselves unhesitatingly recommend D. D. D. Prescription.

Because—We know that it gives instant relief to that torturing itch. Because—D. D. D. starts the cure at the foundation of the trouble. Because—It cleanses, soothes and heals the skin. Because—It enables Nature to repair the ravages of disease.

Because—the records of ten years of complete cures of thousands of the most serious cases show that D. D. D. is today recognized as the absolutely reliable Eczema cure.

Drop into our store to-day, just talk over your case with us. J. R. Daly.

Homesteaders Should Investigate

We are informed by no less authority than the Commissioner of Immigration of the State of Wisconsin that there are yet in Wisconsin more than 10,000,000 acres of undeveloped land and that it is as productive, when put under cultivation, as the high priced lands of adjoining States. If this is true, why should our people go to Canada or other distant and more or less isolated regions in quest of homes? Wouldn't it be well worth while to investigate this state as an official of our neighboring state before leaving your good old Uncle Sam's domain? The Wisconsin Commissioner declines to go into the details for immigration, but has been prevalent more recently, but takes the position that he can best serve the State by appealing to the intelligence rather than the credulity of homesteaders. "Permanent success rather than temporary results," is the slogan of the Wisconsin official, who says: "The man who comes to Wisconsin upon conviction is a positive quantity, he who comes on a guess is a doubtful addition—let us reason together and if we have what you want, you are the man we want."

Training Nurses, Free Scholarships

The Philadelphia School for Nurses, 2219 Chestnut street, Philadelphia, announces that enrollment for the Spring classes will shortly begin. This institution is recognized and endorsed by leading physicians everywhere. Free Scholarships in the Two Years Course are available and provide room, board, laundering, incidental expenses and railroad fare home on completion of the course. A Home Study Course and a Resident Short Course are also provided. The school provides full instruction under safe and wholesome conditions and opens the way to almost immediate financial betterment for those who need to increase their earning power. A special short course class opens February 21st, 1911. This class is formed at the request of leading physicians who are anxious that some provision be made to meet the increasing demand for nurses in all sections. This is an opening which will be appreciated by those who need to quickly prepare themselves for self-support and nursing duty. An illustrated number of the School Bulletin, which is sent free to interested persons, gives all the details.

MAY PROVE FATAL.

When Will Grand Rapids People Learn the Importance of It?

—Backache is only a simple thing at first; but when you know 'tis from the kidneys; That serious kidney troubles follow; That diabetes, Bright's disease may be the fatal end; You will gladly profit by the following experience.

"Tis the statement of a Grand Rapids citizen.

Mrs. Emma Eaton, 528 Lee St., Grand Rapids, Wis., says: "I do not know of a better kidney medicine than Doan's Kidney Pills. In 1907, I publicly endorsed this preparation and now I gladly confirm my former statement. My kidneys were in bad shape. Their secretions were unnatural and caused me no end of annoyance. I also had pains in my back and was told that I had diabetes. When I heard about Doan's Kidney Pills I thought that they might help me and I procured a supply at J. E. Daly's Drug Store. From the first this remedy took effect on my trouble and brought relief. Since then my kidneys have been doing their work properly."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

PITTSVILLE.

(From the Record.)

J. A. James from out west of here is still hanging at a wolf story from Veedum. It seems that Rural Mail Carrier Dan Bonter has become imbued with wolf stories so thoroughly that he couldn't help but talk. And when he did talk, he made it so strong that Mr. James can't make up his mind to believe it. The story as told is that wolves are becoming so thick near Veedum that last week they got into the hen pen of one farmer and killed five hens for him. Now Joe thinks that these must be a new species of wolves or that the people of Veedum are wonderfully smart sleepers. Leaving all joking aside, however, there are numerous wolves in the neighborhood of Veedum as per the report of everyone coming from that vicinity.

Some of the local minutoids, who have been in the woods since the deer season closed again, are of the opinion that there is a black fox in the vicinity of Pittsville, and not far away at that. They have captured several grey foxes and have sighted several red ones, but this fellow has a track and habits different from the grey and red fellows that lead the hunters to believe it is a black fox. They are doubly sure of this for the same fox has been chased from near Alford this way several times by hunters there, and these Alford hunters are of the same opinion, that it is a black fox. When it is considered that a black fox hide is quoted at from $800 to $1,000 it will be seen that the capture of this animal would be of some considerable consequence.

Mrs. M. A. Kellham and son arrived in the city last week and is visiting with the family of her brother, Ed. Clark. She came from England in October and has been visiting in Dodge county since. Brother and sister have not seen each other for thirty-seven years.

The goods of Mrs. Bradford and Mrs. Beck, from the southern part of the state have arrived in the city, those of the former going into the Hofmeister house and of the latter into the Gables.

Mrs. Emily Witter, Mrs. Chas. Krueger and Miss Inez Witter of Grand Rapids drove up to Pittsville Thursday of last week and visited at the Woodworth home here.

Poley Kidney Pills are tonic in action, quick in results, and restore the natural action of the kidneys and bladder. They correct irregularities. Johnson and Hill Co.

NEKOOSA.

(From the Times)

Mrs. W. H. Gullford left for Tacoma, Wash., today on account of the serious illness of her sister who has been under treatment in a hospital there. She underwent an operation a short time ago and afterward contracted typhoid fever of which there were several cases in the hospital. On account of her weak condition it is feared she may not recover.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Vilas were guests of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Vilas last Saturday evening and Sunday morning. They formerly resided at Rhineland, but Mr. Vilas is now employed at Grand Rapids and will move his household goods there soon.

Arthur Stokes and Mike Kirt of Grand Rapids were here on Monday advertising the Eagles' grand ball which takes place at Grand Rapids tonight. They sold several tickets to people here.

Mrs. J. B. Nash of Grand Rapids attended the meeting of the Literary club at the home of Mrs. F. R. Goddard on Tuesday.

Kirk Muir of Grand Rapids transacted business here last Tuesday afternoon.

REMINGTON

John and Margaret Seebrock returned from Milwaukee where they had been the guests of their sister, Mrs. H. Seebrock a few days.

Mrs. August Seebrock was a Grand Rapids visitor one day last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Rodie and children and Mr. and Mrs. Hodge were guests at the Haas home on Sunday.

Miss Mauda Haas visited with friends at Grand Rapids a few days the past week.

C. S. Lowry, who has been confined to his home by various illnesses several weeks, is now improving in health. Miss Agnes Keenan visited at her home in Dexterville Saturday and Sunday.

GOLDEN OPPORTUNITIES IN THE NORTHWEST.

—The Dakotas, Montana, Idaho and Washington offer golden opportunities for the farmer, the business and the professional man. Towns recently established along the new Chicago, Milwaukee & Puget Sound Railway in these states have had a phenomenal but substantial growth. These new towns offer good openings in many lines of business. Adjacent to this new line are thousands of acres of good agricultural land awaiting development and in Montana a 180 acre or 320 acre government homestead can still be secured. The Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway during 1911 will offer very low round trip fares to points in the Northwest, affording the homesteader an excellent opportunity to visit and investigate this new and undeveloped country. For descriptive literature, fares and dates on which reduced fare tickets will be on sale, write F. A. Miller, General Passenger Agent, Chicago. —31-12-28.

J. W. Greer, Greenwood, La., suffered with a severe case of lumbago. "The pains were so intense that I was forced to hypodermic injections for relief. These attacks started with a pain in the small of my back which gradually became fairly galling. My attention was attracted to Foley's Kidney Remedy and I am glad to say after using the wonderful medicine I am no longer bothered in any way by my old enemy lumbago." Johnson and Hill Co.

In the case of Peter Tomozyk against the Badger Box & Lumber Co. the jury found for the defendant. This was a case for damages for personal injury sustained by the plaintiff while at work in the defendant company's mill, the boy having cut his hand while engaged in operating a rip saw in the mill. After hearing all the evidence in the case it was decided that the accident had happened thru the boy's own carelessness, and not thru any fault of the defendant.

In Memoriam.

Headquarters Wood County Post No. 22, Dept. of Wisconsin G. A. R., Grand Rapids, Dec. 10th, 1910.

J. B. Grignon, a faithful and respected member of this Post having departed this life at his home in this city Dec. 4th, 1910, a committee to make a final record of and for this Post, and to convey to the bereaved widow and family of our late comrade, our sincere sympathy, (with them we bow in humble submission to the supreme Ruler of the universe) report as follows: His record as a soldier is unblemished and in his daily life as a comrade of this Post and citizen of this city always ready to uphold and help to maintain good government, law and order, reflects honor upon his comrades and credit to an abiding faith in the sterling worth of the great majority of plain people who constitute the conscience and must be looked to to preserve the integrity of the Republic.

Resolved, that our flag and charter be draped in mourning for thirty days and a copy of this memorial be furnished to the bereaved widow and family and that it be spread upon the minutes of our Post records, and be published in our city papers.

WHAT CURES ECZEMA?

We have had so many inquiries lately regarding Eczema and other skin diseases, that we are glad to make our answer public. After careful investigation we have found that a simple wash of Oil of Wintergreen, as compounded in D. D. D., can be relied upon. We would not make this statement to our patrons, friends and neighbors unless we were sure of it, and although there are many so-called Eczema remedies sold, we ourselves unhesitatingly recommend D. D. D. Prescription.

Because—We know that it gives instant relief to that torturing itch.

Because D. D. D. starts the cure at the foundation of the trouble.

Because it cleanses, soothes and heals the skin.

Because it enables Nature to repair the ravages of disease.

Because the records of ten years of complete cures of thousands of the most serious cases show that D. D. D. is today recognized as the absolutely reliable Eczema cure.

Drop into our store today, just talk over your case with us. J. E. DeJ's.

The Range With A Reputation

To the average housewife the perfect range is one which fully meets every requirement. To all its other good points, it must be a perfect baker, week in, month in, year in, year out, and it must be economical in its consumption of fuel.

Before deciding upon a range, the wise woman examines closely into the merits of the Great Majestic—the range with a reputation, built on honor—of the best materials.

It is the only range made entirely of malleable iron and charcoal iron. Charcoal iron won't rust like steel—malleable iron can't break, and while the cost of a Great Majestic may be more than some other ranges, it outlasts 3 ordinary ranges.

The Majestic is put together with rivets (not bolts and stove putty) making it absolutely air tight, like an engine boiler. The joints and seams will remain air tight forever as neither expansion nor contraction can affect or open them.

In addition, it is lined with guaranteed pure asbestos board, 1/2 inch thick, covered with an iron grate—put there to stay—you can see it. No heat escapes, or cold air gets into the oven, thus needing but half the fuel used in other ranges. This assures an absolutely even, always dependable heat—and its fuel saving, baking and water heating qualities make the Majestic the very cheapest range you can buy.

A WALKING BATTERY

By JULIUS D. WALKER
Copyright, 1910, by American Press Association.

When Johnny Barker was eighteen years old he enlisted in the United States navy as electrician. In the navy Johnny learned two things. He learned all about electrical contrivances, and he learned what were and what were not his rights. Moreover, he associated with men who were trained to fight.

When Johnny's term of enlistment expired he entered the service of a company interested in laying a trolley line in the far west. The road ran between two towns, either of which was bad enough, but both together were frightful. They are cities now, helped to become such by the improvements put in by Johnny Barker, but at that time they had not put away Judge Revolver, who dispensed all the law there was in the territory. Every one told Johnny that he must go about armed if he wished to live, but Johnny said he wouldn't be quick enough with a revolver if attacked and he might as well be shot without one as with one. Indeed, without one he would be saved the labor of carrying about so heavy a weapon.

Johnny went to a dance one night, and among the girls he asked to dance with him was Nora O'Neill, a red headed Irish girl who worked in a house where meals were served to workmen on the trolley line. While the couple were standing on the floor waiting for the piano and fiddle to furnish music a young man indignant to the country stepped up to Johnny and said:

"I want you to understand yer jumpin' in my chair. Don't you do it ag'in." Having thus put out a warning, the fellow went away. Johnny asked the girl what he meant.

"Oh, he thinks he owns me, but he don't! I wouldn't have nothing to do with such a low down feller." Johnny danced with Nora several times after that. Jim Turkle, who claimed her for his own, glared at him, but committed no overt act. Johnny was unarmed, and those who knew him averred that he would never kill a man without giving him a chance for his life. Since he had not killed him this didn't seem to be much of an advantage to his enemies.

But before the dance broke up Jim served notice on Johnny that he had better be prepared in the morning either to give or to take a dose of lead. When 9 o'clock came and Johnny had not been killed the people of the town lined the main street to see the work done. They wouldn't have arisen early to see a fracas of this kind; but, being up, they didn't mind looking on. Johnny had not yet come out of his quarters, and some said he had gone away during the night. Others declared that he was at home and one who had served Uncle Sam wouldn't run away from an enemy.

Meanwhile Johnny, who had made friends with the better class of citizens, was informed by them that Jim Turkle meant what he said and, since he had given notice of his intention, would not spare his enemy because he was unarmed. They advised Johnny to sit up all night and practice firing at a mark and especially at doing quick work with a revolver. But Johnny said he didn't think that he could equal his enemy in that line if he practiced a year. But, though he didn't seem to relish the position he was in, he said he had thought of a method of procedure that would make the chances more equal.

It was about half past 9 that Johnny left his quarters and with his hands in his pockets sauntered down the street, lined with people waiting to see him killed. There was no evidence of a weapon anywhere about him. He wore an ordinary business suit that he had brought with him from the east. If he had carried a weapon under the short sack coat it would have been apparent. Only one chance was to be noticed in his apparel. Instead of the sash of the country he usually wore he had on a derby. Around it was a very singular band, pierced at every inch by a hole about a quarter of an inch in diameter.

Turkle had been all the morning standing in front of the Alhambra saloon waiting for his victim. Seeing Johnny coming, he advanced to meet him. Jim scowled at him, his enemy he should have kept them in readiness to defend himself. Jim could not see a weapon, but supposed Johnny had one concealed. When they came at a fair range Jim sent a bullet at his enemy. Since it failed to hit and Jim was a dead shot, those looking on supposed that it had been fired to warn Johnny that the fight was on.

Then commenced the most remarkable firing that crowd had ever seen. From the holes in Johnny's band came a series of smoke puffs, accompanied by sharp reports. Johnny's head was seen to bend slightly, as though he were aiming. He also turned to the right or to the left that he might bring other holes in his band to bear on his enemy. Jim was so astonished that he forgot to fire till one of the bullets sent from his enemy's hat pierced his side and paralyzed all effort. He fell and was picked up by his friends, and Johnny passed on.

He had slipped short pistol barrels in his hat, also a battery with wires leading from it to circuit making keys in his pocket.

Triplets Die.

Marshfield Times.—Death has claimed the remaining Schenker triplets, one of the sons having died two weeks ago, the little daughter being the second to answer the call last Friday morning, the other son passing away Sunday morning. The girl was buried Saturday morning at 8 o'clock, and the boy Sunday morning from the Catholic church.

Good Taste Good Quality

What we consider to be one of the best evidences of the proof of our claim as the leading gift shop, is the number of people who have "looked around and seen nothing that compares with ours."

This is the important point in the upbuilding of this store—good taste in the selection of our lines, with nothing doubtful about the quality.

There are other stores that would be tremendously glad to possess this occult prestige.

Zuege-Hanson.

On Thursday afternoon, December eleventh, in the Scandinavian Moravian church occurred the marriage of Miss Sarah Hanson of Saratoga to William Zuege, Jr., of this city. Rev. E. B. Johnson performed the ceremony. The couple were attended by Miss Mae Lorenz of Saratoga, Miss Minnie Brehm of Sigel, and Martin Zuege brother of the groom, and Edward Hanson, brother of the bride. The bride is the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Hanson of Saratoga. The groom is a well known employe in the finishing rooms of the local paper mill. Immediately after the ceremony the bridal party repaired to the home of the bride's parents where dinner was served. The many friends of the happy couple wish them a long and happy journey through life.

Prin. M. H. Jackson Lectures at Port Edwards.

Last Wednesday evening Prof. M. H. Jackson of the training school lectured at Port Edwards under the auspices of the village school. He gave a most entertaining and instructive account of his recent European trip.

Prof. Jackson's reputation had attracted an audience of Grand Rapids, Nekeosa and Port Edwards people which crowded the hall to the doors. That the audience greatly enjoyed the address was shown by the fact that it voted unanimously to ask Mr. Jackson to deliver a second address in the near future.

No Cause for Action.

In circuit court last week in the case of Wm. Besman against W. D. Connor the judge took the case out of the hands of the jury and directed a verdict of no cause for action.

Besman was trying to recover a sum of money which he claimed to be due him for conducting Mr. Connor's campaign during the fall of 1906, but it seems that he failed to prove his case to the satisfaction of the court.

Home seekers Should Investigate

We are informed by no less an authority than the Commissioner of Immigration that there are yet in Wisconsin more than 10,000,000 acres of undeveloped land and that it is as productive, when put under cultivation, as the high priced lands of adjoining States. If this is true, why should our people go to Canada or other distant and more or less isolated regions in quest of homes? Wouldn't it be well worth while to investigate this statement of an official of our neighboring state before leaving your good old Uncle Samuel's domain? The Wisconsin Commissioner desires to go into the scrutable for immigration that has been prevalent more recently, but takes the position that he can best serve the State by appealing to the intelligence rather than the credulity of home seekers. "Permanent success rather than temporary results," is the slogan of the Wisconsin official, who says: "The man who comes to Wisconsin upon conviction is a positive quantity, he who comes on a guess is a doubtful addition,—let us reason together and if we have what you want, you are the man we want."

This cutting out of the flamboyant feature in land development and the back-to-the-land movement ought to appeal to the home seekers whose all is involved in his change of home.

Training Nurses, Free Scholarships.

The Philadelphia School for Nurses, 2219 Chestnut street, Philadelphia, announces that enrollment for the Spring classes will shortly begin. This institution is recognized and endorsed by leading physicians everywhere. Free Scholarships in the Two Years Course are available and provide room, board, laundering, incidental expenses and railroad fare home on completion of the course. A Home Study Course and a Resident Short Course are also provided. The school provides full instruction under safe and wholesome conditions and opens the way to almost immediate financial betterment for those who need to increase their earning power. A special short course class opens February 21st, 1914. This class is formed at the request of leading physicians who are anxious that some provisions be made to meet the increasing demand for nurses in all sections. This is an opening which will be appreciated by those who need to quickly prepare themselves for self-support and nursing duty. An illustrated number of the School Bulletin, which is sent free to interested persons, gives all the details.

MAY PROVE FATAL.

When Will Grand Rapids People Learn the Importance of It?

—Backache is only a simple thing at first; but when you know 'tis from the kidneys;

That serious kidney troubles follow; That diabetes, Bright's disease may be the fatal end;

You will gladly profit by the following experience.

"It is the statement of a Grand Rapids citizen.

Mrs. Emma Eaton, 538 Lee St., Grand Rapids, Wis., says: "I do not know of a better kidney medicine than Doan's Kidney Pills. In 1907, I publicly endorsed this preparation and now I gladly confirm my former statement. My kidneys were in bad shape. Their secretions were unnatural and caused me no end of annoyance. I also had pains in my back and was told that I had diabetes. When I heard about Doan's Kidney Pills I thought that they might help me and I procured a supply at J. E. Daly's Drug Store. From the first this remedy took effect on my trouble and brought relief. Since then my kidneys have been doing their work properly."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-McLaren Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

Order Limiting Time to Present Claims and Jan. 4

State of Wisconsin, Wood County, in County Court.

Do the matter of the estate of Joel S. Williams, deceased.

Letters of administration on the estate of Joel S. Williams, deceased, were granted to Olaus E. Smith, of this county, by the court.

It is ordered, that the time from the date hereof until and including the 31st day of June, A. D. 1914, be and the same is hereby fixed as the time within which all creditors of the said Joel S. Williams, deceased, shall present their claims for examination and allowance.

It is further ordered, that all claims and demands of all persons against the said Joel S. Williams, deceased, be examined and adjusted as aforesaid, and of the time above limited for said creditors to present their claims and demands, be given by publishing a copy of this order and notice, for four consecutive weeks, once in each week in the Grand Rapids Tribune, a newspaper published in the county of Wood, the first publication to be within fifteen days of the date hereof. Dated this 29th day of November, 1913. By the Court, W. J. Conway, County Judge.

PITTSVILLE.

(From the Record.)

J. A. James from out west of here is still laughing at a wolf story from Vedum.

It seems that Rural Mail Carrier Dan Benfur has become imbued with wolf stories so thoroughly that he couldn't help but talk. And when he did talk, he made it so strong that Mr. James can't make up his mind to believe it. The story is told is that wolves are becoming so thick near Vedum that last week they got into the hog pen of one farmer and killed five hogs for him.

Now Joe thinks that these must be a new species of wolves or that the people of Vedum are wonderfully sound sleepers. Leaving all joking aside, however, there are numerous wolves in the neighborhood of Vedum as per the report of everyone coming from that vicinity.

Some of the local nimrods, who have been in the woods since the deer season closed again, are of the opinion that there is a black fox in the vicinity of Pittsville, and not far away at that. They have captured several grey foxes and have sighted several red ones, but this fellow has a track and habits different from the grey and red fellows that lead the hunters to believe it is a black fox.

They are doubly sure of this for the same fox has been chased from near Aldorf this way several times by hunters there, and these Aldorf hunters are of the same opinion, that it is a black fox. When it is considered that a black fox hide is quoted at from $800 to $4,000 it will be seen that the capture of this animal would be of some considerable consequence.

Mrs. M. A. Kelham and son arrived in the city last week and is visiting with the family of her brother, Ed. Clark. She came from England in October and has been visiting in Dodge county since.

Brother and sister have not seen each other for thirty-seven years.

The goods of Mrs. Bradford and Mrs. Beck, from the southern part of the state have arrived in the city, those of the former going into the Hohenstein house and of the latter into the Gabler's.

Mrs. Emily Witter, Mrs. Chas. Kruger and Miss Inez Witter of Grand Rapids drove up to Pittsville Thursday of last week and visited at the Woodworth home here.

GOLDEN OPPORTUNITIES IN THE NORTHWEST.

—The Dakotas, Montana, Idaho and Washington offer golden opportunities for the farmer, the business and the professional man. Towns recently established along the new Chicago, Milwaukee & Puget Sound Railway in these states have had phenomenal but substantial growths. These new towns offer good openings in many lines of business. Adjacent to this new line are thousands of acres of good agricultural land awaiting development and in Montana a 160 acre or 320 acre government homestead can still be secured. The Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway during 1911 will offer very low round trip fares to points in the Northwest, affording the homeseeker an excellent opportunity to visit and investigate this new and undeveloped country. For descriptive literature, fares and dates on which reduced fare tickets will be on sale, write P. A. Miller, General Passenger Agent, Chicago, —2-13-38.

Found for the Defendant.

In the case of Peter Tomczyk against the Badger Box & Lumber Co. the jury found for the defendant. This was a case for damages for personal injury sustained by the plaintiff while at work in the defendant company's mill, the boy having cut his hand while engaged in operating a rip saw in the mill. After hearing all the evidence in the case it was decided that the accident had happened thru the boy's own carelessness, and not thru any fault of the defendant.

In Memoriam.

Headquarters Wood County Post No. 22 Dept. of Wisconsin G. A. R., Grand Rapids, Dec. 10th, 1910.

J. B. Grignon, a faithful and respected member of this Post having departed this life at his home in this city Dec. 4th, 1910, a committee to make a final record of and for this Post, and to convey to the bereaved widow and family of our late comrade, our sincere sympathy. (With them we bow in humble submission to the supreme Ruler of the universe) report as follows: His record as a soldier is unblemished and in his daily life as a comrade of this Post and citizen of this city always ready to uphold and help to maintain good government, law and order, reflect honor upon his comrades and credit to an abiding faith in the sterling worth of the great majority of plain people who constitute the conscience and must be looked to, to preserve the integrity of the Republic.

Resolved, that our flag and charter be draped in mourning for thirty days and a copy of this memorial be furnished to the bereaved widow and family and that it be spread upon the minutes of our Post records, and be published in our city papers.

WHAT CURES ECZEMA?

We have had so many inquiries lately regarding Eczema and other skin diseases, that we are glad to make our answer public. After careful investigation we have found that a simple wash of Oil of Wintergreen, as compounded in D. D. D., can be relied upon. We would not make this statement to our patrons, friends and neighbors unless we were sure of it, and although there are many so-called Eczema remedies sold, we ourselves unhesitatingly recommend D. D. D. Prescription.

Because—We know that it gives instant relief to that torturing itch.

Because—D. D. D. starts the cure at the foundation of the trouble.

Because—It cleanses, soothes and heals the skin.

Because—It enables Nature to repair the ravages of Eczema.

Because—the records of ten years of complete cures of thousands of the most serious cases show that D. D. D. is today recognized as the absolutely reliable Eczema cure.

Drop into our store to-day, just talk over your case with us. J. E. Daly.

The Range With A Reputation

To the average housewife the perfect range is one which fully meets every requirement. In addition to all its other good points, it must be a perfect baker, week in, week out—month in, month out—year in, year out, and it must be economical in its consumption of fuel.

Before deciding upon a range, the wise woman examines closely into the merits of the Great Majestic—the range with a reputation, built on honor of the best materials.

It is the only range made entirely of malleable iron and charcoal iron. Charcoal iron won't rust like steel—malleable iron can't break, and while the first cost of a Great Majestic may be more than some other ranges, it outwears 3 ordinary ranges.

The Majestic is put together with rivets (not bolts and stove putty) making it absolutely air tight, like an engine boiler. The joints and seams will remain tight forever as neither expansion, nor contraction can affect it, or open them.

In addition, it is lined with guaranteed pure asbestos board, 1/2 inch thick, covered with an iron grate—put there to stay—you can see it. No heat escapes, even when cold air gets into the oven, thus needing but half the fuel used in other ranges. This assures an absolutely even, always dependable heat—and its fuel saving, baking and water heating qualities make the Majestic the very cheapest range you can buy.

The Great and Grand MAJESTIC Malleable and Charcoal Iron RANGE

The reservoir is all copper, heated like a tea kettle through a copper pocket (stamped from one piece of copper) setting against left hand lining of fire box. It holds 15 gallons of water, and, by turning lever, the frame—and reservoir—moves away from fire. This feature is patented and can be used only in the Majestic. Remember these three important features: The material the Majestic is made of—the way it is put together—the reservoir—then glance at a few of the other features possessed by the Majestic that follow:

All doors drop down and form perfect and rigid shelves. Malleable oven racks pan—no more shoveling ashes out of ash pit. Ventilated ash pit prevents floor from burning. Ash cup catches ashes that would otherwise fall on the floor. No springs anywhere to get out of fix. It's the best range at any price, and should be in every kitchen.

LEST WE FORGET.
A Critic Reminds Us How Our People Have Bucked Progress.
We of this big republic complacently add to the glory of our national achievements and are not without temptation to acclaim them as proof of superior craft and judgment.
But herein do we forget that we are on record as having cast our vote against every move that has contributed to the present century's development.
We raised our voices in contemptuous protest against the first projected railroads. First the locomotive whistled its signal from the people it would not yet have started.
When the electric telegraph was shown to us we brushed it aside as a toy and laughed its inventor to scorn when he offered to sell us his rights for a few thousand dollars.
We put into jail an impostor the first man who brought anthracite coal to market. We broke to pieces the sewing machine as an invention calculated to ruin the working classes, and we did the same thing to the harvester and the binder. We scorned the typewriter as a phylisophy.
We shivered together in mass meetings of indignation at the first proposal to install electric trolley lines, and when Dr. Bell told us he had invented an instrument by means of which we might talk to one another across the town we responded with accustomed ridicule, and only the tears among us contributed it its being—Atlantic Monthly.

HUMAN DISSECTION.
Surgery and the Anatomists in the Olden Days.
For a long time Alexandria was the only medical center of the world, and the physician in chief, born about 130 A. D., had to journey from Rome to the African city even to see a skeleton. He went his students to the German battlefields to dissect the bodies of the national enemies, while he himself used apes as most resembling human beings. Human dissection was revived in Bologna in the fourteenth century, where Madonna Manzoni's father was professor of anatomy, undoubtedly one of the first women doctors, if not the very first. Leonardo da Vinci, painter of "The Last Supper," was a great anatomist, but dissection had fallen into disuse when Vesalius finally revived it about the middle of the sixteenth century.
Even in comparatively modern times anatomists have been the object of attacks by the populace. In 1788 Dr. John Shippen of Philadelphia was mobbed as a grave robber. Doctors' riots in New York occurred twenty-three years later and were due to the belief that the medical students robbed graves continually. It was the lack of opportunity to obtain subjects regularly that led to the practice of grave robbing and originated what Dr. Keene calls "a set of the lowest possible villanies—the resurrectionists."—New York World.

Do You Help Others?
It has been truly said that for every one who stands alone there are twelve to lean against him. If you are one of those who are willing to help and encourage, or are you leaning against some one and drawing your inspiration and courage from him? It depends entirely on yourself whether you take a positive attitude in your work or whether your negative characteristics shall dominate. It is much easier to go through life making a little effort as possible, but it is a poor way if we are going to make life yield even a small modicum of what it holds for us. If you are working earnestly and hoping for success there is only one way to attain it, and that is through your positive characteristics.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Julius Caesar.
Caesar was assassinated March 15, 44 B. C., and was at the time of his death fifty-six years old. It is not alone as a military genius that his fame endures. By far the most remarkable of all round men of antiquity—masterfully great not only as general, but as writer, statesman and administrator. In addition to these high accomplishments he was a great mathematician, philologist, architect and jurist. His conversational powers were extraordinary, and from all accounts he was in his manner one of the most attractive of men.

Henry of Navarre and the Red.
Henry IV. of France was a firm believer in the adage, "Spare the rod and spoil the child." In a letter to the governor of his son he wrote in October, 1607: "Madame—I have to complain that you have not informed me of having flogged my son. I desire and request that you will flog him whenever he is disobedient or otherwise troublesome, knowing as I do that nothing will do him more good. I speak from experience, as at his age I was frequently birched."—Paris Gaulois.

Just Made It.
Former Gies (who has just cashed a check)—I don't think this money's right. The Cashier—Would you mind counting it again, sir? I think you'll find it correct. Former Gies (having done so)—Yes, but you be careful, young man; it's only just right.—London Sketch.

The Happy Medium.
Squire's Daughter—By the way, do you spell your name with a large or a small N, Mrs. McNebo? Villager—Oh, middlin' large, miss.—London M. A. P.

The man who married an actress and introduced her to his minister sister as the governess, gets into all sorts of trouble, especially when his wife finds he is the fond parent of twin daughters aged seventeen years. A maid servant with detective proclivities and "a clue in her head," a German friend who nurses a secret sorrow and is looking for someone to put sweet flowers on his grave, and many other characters make "A Bachelor's Honeymoon" the funniest play seen in years. It will be presented at Daly's Theatre Dec. 26th.

ARPIN.
A. J. Cowell drove to Grand Rapids Friday returning home Saturday. A very interesting program is being prepared by Miss LaVigne at Dist. No. 3 to be given Thursday evening, Dec. 22nd. Everybody is cordially invited to attend. There will also be a program and tree at the hall Friday evening, Dec. 23rd. L. F. Roehrig made a business trip to Minnesota the fore part of the week.

Mrs. A. J. Cowell and Mrs. Oscar Dingels were Grand Rapids shoppers Thursday.

Among the Grand Rapids visitors Saturday were: H. F. Roehrig, Row Winebrenner and Miss Mary LaVigne. A large crowd attended the Temperance lecture at the Presbyterian church Sunday evening given by the Bethel people.

The home of John Nimm was completely destroyed by fire Friday. It caught fire from the stove pipe. Mrs. Nimm was home alone at the time and was unable to save anything. There is no insurance.

Rev. Postelthwaite of Marshallfield preached a very interesting sermon at the Presbyterian church Friday evening. There was a large attendance.

Don't forget to attend the song service at Arpin church Sabbath morning. Sunday school immediately following. The meeting was well attended at the Arpin church Friday evening and Mr. Postelthwaite said he would come any other time the people would come out to hear him. We'll all go again won't we? The sleigh ride that night was quite a treat. The roads running west and east have no sleighing but the north and south road is good sleighing for as little snow as we have.

Sheep have had no hay or grain as yet.

Thursday evening, Dec. 22nd at Dist. No. 2 Hanson, Miss Johnson will give one of her best entertainments. Those who were at her Thanksgiving entertainment, know I am telling the truth when I say she is hard to beat, and those who don't know better come and be convinced.

We believe the farmers insurance company's annual meeting will be held in Vesper this year so we may all attend if we want to.

Remember the Vesper butter maker is one of the fellows that gets good watching, although he has no chance to steal and if he did he'd be put in jail till he'd make good. Fellows, he's alright only he can't make butter without cream. If this is a co-operative creamery, cooperate with it and bring your cream and he will show you he's the best there is.

You'll believe if you point out the dishonesty of everyone also you will soon be like the oriole making a noise and no one to listen to it but yourself. And such a fellow won't be worth watching.

The birthday party in honor of Mrs. Gronomeyer was a surprise on the guests as none of them knew before they arrived that it was a birthday party. The midnight lunch was fine and we hope Mrs. Gronomeyer many returns of her birthday and we will remember next year that it is on the fourteenth day of December, to which you are all cordially invited.

Dec. 24th at Pleasant Hill church you are allowed the privilege to attend a Christmas tree and program. Professor Likens will give some singing by a class of young people he has in charge which in itself will be quite a treat. And the professor himself is all music and a yard wide. Come and see him and you will have a good time.

We are glad the weather has warmed up some so the Pittsville high school can have school. Got in a little over four days last week.

The program given Sunday evening at the Arpin church was good and the church was full. Boys come and hear them sing and speak even though you don't believe one word of the truth they speak. Come and hear them, then judge them.

FOURTEEN MILE CREEK.
A. Jero of Spring Valley, Minn., visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Israel Jero a few days last week.

Clyde Wingard, who has been working at Ladysmith visited his parents last week.

W. J. Smith is very sick at this writing. We all wish him a speedy recovery.

Mrs. F. M. Rous, who has been on the sick list, is recovering very slowly.

Chas. Rous and sister Winnie Coggins visited with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Rous, last week.

ALTDORF.
The young people of this vicinity are preparing a play for Christmas. The Christmas exercises will be held Friday evening.

C. L. Jacobs of Finley and B. W. Gates of Sherry were business visitors at O. J. Len's last Thursday. While here each bought a Holstein bull.

P. Wirtz just received a car of bread and other food.

Henry Huser has gone to the woods to work.

New Olympia Restaurant.
George Pappas has rented the floor over Levin's store for the purpose of putting in a first class restaurant. Frank Wagner has done the papering and decorating and the plumbing was done by Wm. Hess. It is well put up. A cloak room is off from the hall and he also has a fine kitchen and dining room. It is a very neat place. The place will be opened for business Thursday noon, Dec. 22nd.

Martin Hilgers, one of the substantial farmers of the town of Rudolph, paid this office a pleasant call on Thursday.

The Bliss orchestra will start out on Monday next on a trip to occupy a week, during which they will visit several places and officiate at a dance every evening.

—We have some rare bargains in books. Daly Drug & Jewelry Co.

Christmas services will be held at the Methodist church on Sunday, Christmas day and in the evening there will be music, singing and speaking by the children.

Mrs. George Gibson returned on Monday from Stoughton where she had been taking treatment for rheumatism. She reports herself much improved in health.

As Christmas falls on Sunday this year, Monday will be observed as the legal holiday and the banks of the city will be closed on that day. It is the intention of all of the merchants to close their places of business on that day.

—The nicest line of out glass in the city at the Grand Rapids Tea & Coffee Co.

—You'll be sorry if you miss "A Bachelor's Honeymoon" at Daly's Theatre next Monday, Dec. 26.

Mrs. Peter Moberg expects to leave today for Sparta where the family will make their home during the coming winter. Mr. Moberg, who has been engaged in doing some grading for the railroad company, has laid up for the winter.

—See the fine line of dressed dolls at Johnson & Hill Co. Drug Dept.

The Johnson & Hill Company wish to announce that they will close their store on Christmas eve so as to allow their clerks to attend Christmas eve festivities. This notice is given so that their patrons may be able to do their trading before supper on that day.

—We solicit your Xmas business and will try and please you. Daly Drug & Jewelry Co.

—Christmas stationery, perfumes, toilet waters and candy at Otto's.

—See the new line of pipes at Otto's. Nice Christmas gifts for men who smoke.

George Rivers of Rudolph and O. A. Hall of Blackwell, Oklahoma, were among the pleasant callers at the Tribune office on Tuesday. Mr. Hall is engaged in buying cattle down in Oklahoma, and has been located there for the past sixteen years. He is accompanied on his northern trip by his mother, Mrs. Marcella Hall, who is also a guest at the Rivers home in Rudolph.

—Johnson & Hill Co. Drug Department for toys.

Woman's Club Meeting.
The Woman's Club met Monday night at the home of Mrs. E. E. Ames. After completing the lesson on David Copperfield as scheduled in the Club calendar, and listening to a most excellent and timely paper on Dickens's Christmas stories by Mrs. Orestes Garrison, a brief dramatization of Dickens Christmas Carol planned by the Misses Setzer and Farrah was given. The part of Scrooge, the close-fisted miser who considered Christmas a humbug, was taken by Mrs. Vaughan, who played the part admirably. Mrs. Harrington, the dainty Spirit of Christmas, showed Scrooge tableaux representing his Xmas Past, Present and Future which wrought a wonderful transformation in him.

This little diversion from the usual work was appreciated by the Club, which felt that the Christmas spirit already began to pervade the atmosphere.

At the Methodist Church.
Christmas coming on Sunday, this year, the members of the Methodist Episcopal Church and congregation will observe the day with special emphasis. At the morning hour of worship, 10:30, the choir will render Christmas music, and will be assisted by Mrs. Chairote Lynn Campbell. This will be a very attractive portion of the service. The pastor, Rev. Francis A. Pease, will preach on the theme, "The Song of the Angels." The Sunday school will meet at 12 o'clock as usual. In the evening a Cantata entitled "The Christmas Story," will be given by the Choir and Sunday school, and will be decidedly interesting. There will be no collection taken at this service, but a silver offering will be received at the door, the proceeds of which will go into the enlarged work of the Sunday school. If you want a seat at either service, come early. Remember the hours 10:30 a. m. and 7:30 p. m.

Says an exchange: "If we were to announce that you could get this paper for thirty days for the price of three beers every descendant of old Adam would know that fifteen cents was meant. But if we were to say that it would be sent for three months for the price of a hymn book, all of them wouldn't know whether he had raised the subscription rate or were giving the paper away."

R. L. Nash attended the meeting of the Retail Implement Dealers of Wisconsin held in Milwaukee last week and reports a very pleasant and profitable meeting. The implement makers are against the manufacturers' binders twice at the Waupun convention as proposed by the state, and is the intention of the association to have a committee before the legislature to knock out the proposed plan possible.

The first of the series of loud concerts was given at the opera house on Friday evening to a good audience. The band seems to be fully up to the standard that it has been in former years under the direction of Prof. Jim, and all of the selections were received in an enthusiastic manner. The vocal solo by little Marion Matthews was especially pleasing and also responded to two encores. Although nine years of age, Marion has a soft, powerful voice, and certainly plays unusual talent. The boys' music something out of the ordinary for their next concert and those who are lovers of music should make it a list to be present.

A WALKING BATTERY

By JULIUS D. WALKER
Copyright, 1910, by American Press Association

When Johnny Barker was eighteen years old he enlisted in the United States army as a private. In the army Johnny learned two things. He learned all about electrical contrivances, and he learned what were and what were not his rights. Moreover, he associated with men who were trained to fight.

When Johnny's term of enlistment expired he entered the service of a company interested in laying a trolley line in the far west. The road ran between two towns, either of which was bad enough, but both together were frightful. They are cities now, helped to become such by the improvements put in by Johnny Barker. But at that time the road was not very long. A revolver, which was one of the last things he had not put away, Johnny told Johnny that he must go about armed if he wished to live, but Johnny said he wouldn't be quick enough with a revolver if attacked and he might as well be shot without one as with one.

Johnny went to a dance one night, and among the girls he was asked to dance with him was Nora O'Neil, a red-headed Irish girl who worked in a house where men were served to workmen on the trolley line. While the couple were standing on the floor waiting for the piano and fiddle to furnish music a young man indigenous to the country stepped up to Johnny and said:

"I want you to understand me, Johnny, but my child, don't you do it again!" Having thus put out a warning, the fellow went away. Johnny asked the girl what he meant.

"Oh, he thinks he owns me, but he doesn't! I wouldn't have nothing to do with such a box down here!"

Johnny danced with Nora several times after that. Jim Turkle, who claimed her for his own, glared at him, but committed no overt act. Johnny was unarmed, and those who know Jim averred that he would never kill a man without giving him a chance for his life. Since he had killed half a dozen and no one had killed him this didn't seem to be much of an advantage to his enemies.

But before the dance broke up Jim served notice on Johnny that he had better be prepared in the morning either to give or to take a dose of lead. When 9 o'clock came and Johnny had not been killed the people of the town lined the main street to see the work done. They wouldn't have arisen early to see a fracas of this kind; but, being up, they didn't mind looking on. Johnny had not yet come out of his quarters, and some said he had gone away during the night. Others declared that he was at home and one who had served Uncle Sam wouldn't run away from an enemy.

Meanwhile Johnny, who had made friends with the better class of citizens, was informed by them that Jim Turkle meant what he said and, since he had given notice of his intention, would not spare his enemy because he was unarmed. They advised Johnny to sit up all night and practice lying at a mark and especially at doing quick work with a revolver. But Johnny said he didn't think that he could equal his enemy in that line if he practiced a year. But, though he didn't seem to relish the position he was in, he said he had thought of a method of procedure that would make the chances more equal.

It was about half past 9 that Johnny left his quarters and with his hands in his pockets sauntered down the street, lined with people waiting to see him killed. There was no evidence of a weapon anywhere about him. He wore an ordinary business suit that he had brought with him from the east. If he had carried a weapon under the short sack coat it would have been apparent. Only one change was to be noticed in his apparel. Instead of the members of the country he usually wore he had on a derby. Around it was a very singular band, pierced at every inch by a hole about a quarter of an inch in diameter.

Turkle had been all the morning standing in front of the Alhambra, a foot waiting for his victim. Seeing Johnny coming, he advanced to meet him. Jim scowled at his enemy keeping his hands in his pockets, since he should have kept them in readiness to defend himself. Jim could not see a weapon, but supposed Johnny had one concealed. When they came at a fair range Jim sent a bullet at his enemy. Since it failed to hit and Jim was a dead shot, those looking on supposed that it had been fired to warn Johnny that the fight was on.

Then commenced the most remarkable firing that crowd had ever seen. From the holes in Johnny's hatband came a series of smoke puffs, accompanied by sharp reports. Johnny's head was seen to bend slightly, as though he were aiming. He also turned to the right or to the left that he might bring other holes in his hatband to bear on his enemy. Jim was so astonished that he forgot to fire till one of the bullets sent from his enemy's hat pierced his side and paralyzed all effort. He fell and was picked up by his friends, and Johnny passed on.

He had rigged short pistol barrels in his hat; also a battery with wires leading from it to circuit making boys in his pocket.

Good Taste Good Quality

What we consider to be one of the best evidences of the proof of our claim as the leading gift shop, is the number of people who have "looked around and seen nothing that compares with ours."

This is the important point in the rebuilding of this store—good taste in the selection of our lines, with nothing doubtful about the quality.

There are other stores that would be tremendously glad to possess this coveted prestige.

A WALKING BATTERY

By JULIUS D. WALKER

Copyright, 1910, by American Press Association.

When Johnny Barker was eighteen years old he enlisted in the United States navy as electrician. In the navy Johnny learned two things. He learned all about electrical contrivances, and he learned what were and what were not his rights. Moreover, he associated with men who were trained to fight.

When Johnny's term of enlistment expired he entered the service of a company interested in laying a trolley line in the far west. The road ran between two towns, either of which was bad enough, but both together were frightful. They are cities now, helped to become such by the improvements put in by Johnny Barker, but at that time they had not put away judges' revolvers, who dispensed all the law there was in the territory. Every one told Johnny that he must go about armed if he wished to live, but Johnny said he wouldn't be quick enough with a revolver if attacked and he might as well be shot without one as with one. Indeed, without one he would be saved the labor of carrying about so heavy a weapon.

Johnny went to a dance one night, and among the girls he asked to dance with him was Nora O'Neill, a red headed Irish girl who worked at a house where meals were served to workmen on the trolley line. While the couple were standing on the floor waiting for the piano and fiddle to furnish music a young man indignant to the country stepped up to Johnny and said:

"I want you to understand yer jumpin' in my claim. Don't you do it again."

Having thus put out a warning, the fellow went away. Johnny asked the girl what he meant.

"Oh, he thinks he owns me, but he don't! I wouldn't have nothing to do with such a low down feller."

Johnny danced with Nora several times after that. Jim Turkle, who claimed her for his own, glared at him, but committed no overt act. Johnny was unharmed, and those who knew Jim asserted that he would never kill a man without giving him a chance for his life. Since he had killed half a dozen and no one had killed him this didn't seem to be much of an advantage to his enemies.

But before the dance broke up Jim served notice on Johnny that he had better be prepared in the morning either to give up or to take a dose of lead.

When 9 o'clock came and Johnny had not been killed the people of the town lined the main street to see the work done. They wouldn't have arisen early to see a fracas of this kind; but, being up, they didn't mind looking on. Johnny had not yet come out of his quarters, and some said he had gone away during the night. Good Taste Good Quality

What we consider to be one of the best evidences of the proof of our claim as the leading gift shop, is the number of people who have "looked around and seen nothing that compares with ours."

This is the important point in the rebuilding of this store—good taste in the selection of our lines, with nothing "doubtful about the quality."

There are other stores that would be tremendously glad to possess this occult prestige.

world, not even Harry, had ever been allowed to peep within. Indeed, since she was married she had not often done so herself. But now she knew that the happiness of her life had founded beneath her, she took pleasure in being able to be all the pleasures (so!) that was left her—thus to live over a happy past. (A time.)

Watkins, the Moores' new maid, experienced some surprise (and not unnaturally when, in the exercise of her vocation, she was carrying a copper jug of hot water, she was passing the dressing room door, and saw Mrs. Moore's dressing room door before she and her master and mistress, each each other from opposite ends of the corridor, both intently reading. Like people on a stage—he in a small black book, she in one large, fat and red.

A still poorer opinion had Sarah Watkins of her new place when she saw the readers look up simultaneously, suddenly and guiltily close their books, turn on their several heels, and so excent.

"And them sez as what they has only been married ten months!" she meditated. "Well—well we'll see that to come of this!"

And she paused, waiting, with her head in its place.

"Oh said her husband, 'I don't think is much'"

"And you call yourself a writer!"

"Well, shall I begin?" Clara was plums and needles now. She could hardly still. The quarrel was forgotten.

"'Christmas eve' (she reads). 'A dull field calls in the lane—Went to Margery and calls me Auntie dear. Came home Grant's and brought back fruit for tea. There is a man coming, a friend of father. It is a horrid nuisance.'"

Here Clara Moore spoke off suddenly.

"Oh, I wrote something fresh, you saw wanted to remember. You've no idea how memory used to be in those days. Married helps. One has to remember husband's iniquities."

"Set in a notebook, learned and comrote," murmured Harry.

His wife stopped and looked severely him.

"Well," she said, "I did write a lot. I and yours is no fair exchange. I did it as an exercise, you see, for I was com-

The family dinner that night was distinguished by extreme cordiality of demeanor, and an etiquette almost Spanish in its stateliness. They were nothing if not polite—that is, when Watkins was in the room. But Watkins knew, and stayed a moment on the mat, listening to the silence that dropped like a pall. She entered, smiling to herself, knowing (oh, experienced Watklus!) that she would find Clara looking sideways at the pattern on the carpet as though she had never seen it before, while at his end of the cable Harry was molding broad pellets as if for a wager. These things do not vary.

But even Watkins the wise did not know everything. Penny fiction does not inform its readers what real people do. So as soon as Clara had escaped out of the dining room before he had time to open his door for her, Harry suitably sat down and felt for his cigarette case. He was sure he had left it in the drawing room. Yet he would not go for it. He could hear Clara playing a noisy jig, the wriggle and stamp of which he particularly loathed.

"The little wretch," he said, laughing in spite of himself, "she knows quite well."

"Good evening, Mr. Moore," said his wife, and he rose and went. "Your cigarette case is in the smoking room."

But this time Harry had all his own way. Six feet of blonde colossus made short work of glomping it of the tongue. Clara found very good at composition at school, why you may think. Besides, I don't believe I have anything in that book at all."

"Oh, yes—I have!" Clara flounced elegantly written pages of memoranda before

"Well," she said, with a sigh (and he were dim and distant), "I will read the never thought to let anyone see—not even But since you have been so horrid to will."

It seemed an odd reason, but Harry nodded. Clara dutifully gave some leaves the fully. "Where shall I go on?" she asked turning her brows.

"You did begin from the beginning," smiled as he spoke, "why not continue?"

She glanced up with sudden shyness, as he spoke, "why not continue?"

She glanced up with sudden shyness, most like a surprised

"Too were saying that it was a horrible chance, Harry, come to dinner," said Moore, "add you change your mind?"

There has been enormous waste by the white game killers, and if the waste by the Indians has been less it is only because the Indians are fewer in numbers. In some localities the continued and reckless killing of game for sale in the mining camps has resulted in the almost complete disappearance of such game. Besides this waste of game by few people who go to the country in search of fine game heads, and who kill with the usual selfish recklessness. They have been known, after a day's hunting,

"Now, oh, mika's no great thing," said Harry, opening his little black pocketbook, "jotting merrily."

"Go on, please," cried Clara, stamping her foot, "and mind, don't alter a word or put in more. I shall know!"

"Christmas eve" (began Harry) "worked at Guardian article, took it more time, saw proof of yesterday's. Chief wants me to go to Armenia about the atrocities. Shan't! To club in afternoon—Clifford, McCosh, Moxon and several of the fellows there, who wanted me to stop. Told them I couldn't. Had to go out to see Linklater's to dinner—girls, music, bore—but I should look in later."

"Oh!" interjected Clara, with her head suddenly haughty, "a bore—was it?"

"You said a horrid nuisance!" remarked her husband, and continued his reading without troubling to defend himself further.

"I got there early—long way out of town—several fine trails. At last found the place—a big house under trees. From the doorway I could see in the hall a girl standing on steps, putting up holly and green stuff. Presently old Linklater came and introduced me. 'This is Clara!' I became conscious of two great, dark, steady, grayish-hazel eyes. The dinner went all right after that. I was so well, I don't know: a fascinating and glamorous person certainly. There was a sister."

"Nonsense!" cried Clara. "You are making up as you go along. I know you."

Her husband, silently handed her the book.

"I think I made a conquest. But the Lady said she didn't want me. The Eyes don't show up. Waited an hour and a half, but don't think I wasted my time entirely. Dear old lady!"

"Harry, you are a cold-blooded wretch!"

"Very much the contrary, Mrs. Moreel."

"Now shall I read?" And without giving him time to answer, Clara opened the solid mahogany door, took down the two long bassil boards and continued, "Dec. 28th: Went out all the afternoon with Miss Grierson. Down to the lane-soup kitchen, girls club, and home with her to tea. Visited a secret. I was seen by the satisfied way she has of looking mysteriously at one who would be disappointed if you didn't ask her at once. So I teased her to tell.

"Do you know whom I've been entertaining all afternoon?" she said, her shoulders shaking with repressed laughter. I understood well enough.

"Oh, the curate," I said, as carelessly as

"Oh, I want to get to the end—the end!" Clara whispered, excitedly. "Quick, quick—can't wait!"

"Well, here it is: 'April 8th. We went to walk along the beach, she and I. We talked her for that unless something was going to come of this, I must go away."

"What," she said, "or altogether?" And I said "Yes." Then she walked "good while silent, and when I looked, I could see no."

"No, you didn't," said Clara. "I could never have been so silly!"

"Tear after big tear rolling slowly down her cheek," Harry continued, imperturbably. "I needed no more than that who would?"

"I don't want me to go!" I cried.

"She shook her head, still weeping, and not caring now whether I saw or not."

"So I stayed."

But almost before he had time to receive an answer, he suddenly leaped forward excitedly and exclaimed abruptly: "Ah, there is a man!" should like to make an observation for perhaps a quarter of an hour." "I cannot quite fathom that man's intellect," he said at last; "apparently, he is lethargic, physically, yet of wonderfully keen intellectual powers. But what interests me in him is his face, that his head is of Shakespeare, in contour, of the great intellect. In contour, of the intellect is marvellous. I have never seen any other head so closely approach in its characteristics the best bust that we have of Shakespeare. He should be a leader in this house. He should be just such a head. And what is his name?" "His name is one of the leaders in the house; he is one of the most brilliant men in public life today, and his name is Thomas Brackett Reed," was the answer.

"Wonderful—wonderful in the like sense between his head and that of the bust of Shakespeare!" exclaimed Str Henry under his breath. And during the rest of the hour that the great English actor, who had taken himself so excellently to the study of men's characters, stayed in the house, his gaze was constantly riveted on Thomas B. Reed.

He was absolutely loyal to his friends, and was very solicitous of the opinion of every one with whom he was brought in contact, and would never permit himself to indulge in an outburst of temper. Yet notwithstanding these qualities, he was a man of great firmness when called upon to stand up for his rights. I was convinced that he was right in any matter, though apparently gentle method of proceeding. His recognition of the prerogatives often led to his being mistaken for a kindly person who knew him fairly well to misjudge his character in this respect. The little story I am

This intimate deal carried to the days of the Commodore himself, and Cornelius Vanderbilt, as the head of the family, encouraged and maintained it. Imagine his surprise, therefore, when the late Edward King, president of the institution, said to Mr. Vanderbilt one day that he was anxious to stand gentleman of high financial standing with whom it was generally known that Mr. Vanderbilt was not on friendly terms, should be elected to fill the vacant seat on the board of directors

This man and myself do not maintain personal relations and I would be exceedingly embarrassing to me, and I am sure it would be to him, if we were compelled to meet in a directors' meeting."

LEST WE FORGET.

A Critic Reminds Us How Our People Have Forgotten.

We of this big public complacency affirm the glory of our national achievements and are not without temptation to acclaim them as proof of superior craft and judgment. But herein do we forget that we are on record as having cast our vote against every measure that has contributed to the present century's development.

We raised our voices in contemptuous protest against the first projected railway. Had the locomotive waited its signal from the people it would not yet have started.

When the electric telegraph was shown to us we brushed it aside as a toy and laughed its inventor to scorn when he offered to sell us his rights for a few thousand dollars.

We put into jail as an impostor the first man who brought and sold the cotton gin. We tried to give the cotton gin machine as an invention calculated to ruin the working class, and we did the same thing to the harvester and the binder. We scorned the type writer as a plaything.

We gathered together in mass meetings of indignation at the first proposal to install electric trolley lines, and when Mr. Bell told us he had invented an instrument by means of which we might talk to one another across the town we responded with scornful ridicule, and only the rock less among us contributed its being—Atlantic Monthly.

HUMAN DISSECTION.

Surgery and the Anatomists in the Olden Days.

For a long time Alexandria was the only medical center of the world, and the physician Galen, born about 129 A. D., had to journey from Rome to the African city even to see a skeleton. He sent his students to the Roman battlefields to dissect the bodies of the national enemies, while he himself used apes as most revolting human beings. Human dissection was revived in Bologna in the fourteenth century, where Madonna Manolona later was professor of anatomy, undoubtedly one of the first women doctors. It was not the very first. Leonardo da Vinci, painter of "The Last Supper," was a great anatomist, but dissection had fallen into disuse when Vesalius finally revived it about the middle of the sixteenth century.

Even in comparatively modern times anatomists have been the object of attacks by the populace. In 1782 Dr. John Shippen, a Philadelphia surgeon, was mobbed as a grave robber. Doctors' riots in New York occurred twenty-three years later and were due to the belief that the medical students robbed graves continually. It was the lack of opportunity to obtain subjects regularly that led to the practice of grave robbing and originated what Dr. Keene calls "a set of the lowest possible villanous—the resurrectionists."—New York World.

Do You Help Others?

It has been trivially said that for every one who stands alone there are two who lean against him. How is it with you? Are you one of those against whom others lean for help and encouragement, or are you leaning against some one and drawing your inspiration and courage from him? It depends entirely on your attitude in your work or whether your negative characteristics shall dominate. It is much easier to go through life making as little effort as possible, but it is a poor way if we are going to make life yield even a modicum of good what it holds for us. If you are working earnestly and hoping for success there is only one way to attain it, and that is through your positive characteristics.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Julius Caesar.

Caesar was assassinated March 15, 44 B. C., and was at the time of his death fifty-six years old. It is not alone as a military genius that his fame endures. By almost common consent he was the most remarkable all round man of antiquity—masterfully great not only as general, but as writer, statesman and administrator. In addition to these high accomplishments he was a great mathematician, philologist, architect and jurist. His conversational powers were extraordinary, and from all accounts he was in his manner one of the most attractive of men.

Henry of Navarre and the Rod.

Henry IV of France was a firm believer in the adage, "Spare the rod and spoil the child." In a letter to the governors of his son, the Duke of Orléans, 1607, "Madame—I have to complain that you have not informed me of having flogged my son. I desire and request that you will flog him whenever he is disobedient or otherwise troublesome, knowing as I do that nothing will do him more good I speak from experience, as at his age I was frequently flogged."—Paris Gaulois.

ARPIN.

A J. Cowell drove to Grand Rapids Friday returning home Saturday. A very interesting program is being prepared by Miss LaVigne at Dist. No. 8 to be given Thursday evening, Dec. 2nd. Everybody is cordially invited to attend. There will also be a program and tree at the hall Friday evening, Dec. 2nd.

H. F. Roehrig made a business trip to Minnesota the fore part of the week.

Mrs. A. J. Cowell and Mrs. Oscar Dingeldien were Grand Rapids shoppers Thursday.

Among the Grand Rapids visitors Saturday were H. F. Roehrig, Row Winkler and Miss Mary LaVigne. A large crowd attended the Temperance lecture at the Presbyterian church Sunday evening given by the Bethel people.

The home of John Niman was completely destroyed by fire Friday. It caused a fire from the stove pipe. Mrs. Niman was home alone at the time and was unable to save anything. There is no insurance.

Rev. Pollockwhite of Marshallfield preached a very interesting sermon at the Presbyterian church Friday evening. There was a large attendance.

Don't forget to attend the song service at Arpin church Sabbath morning. Sunday school immediately after. The meeting was well attended at the Arpin church Friday evening and Mr. Postlewhite said he would come any other time the people would come out to hear him. We'll all go again won't we? The sleigh ride that night was quite a treat. The roads running west and east have no snowing but the north and south road is good although for us little snow we have.

Shoop have had no hay or grain yet.

Thursday evening, Dec. 2nd at Dist. No. 2 Hanson, Miss Johnson will give one of her best entertainments. Those who were at her Thanksgiving entertainment, know I am telling the truth when I say she is hard to beat, and those who don't know better come and be convinced.

We believe the farmers insurance company's annual meeting will be held in Vesper this year so we may all attend if we want to.

Remember the Vesper butter maker is one of the fellows that gets good watching although he has no chance to steal and if he did he'd be put in jail till he'd make good. Follows, he's alright only he can't make butter without cream. If this is a co-operative company, cooperate with it and bring your own cream and he will show you he's the best there is.

You I believe if you point out the dishonesty of everyone else you will soon be like the cricket making a noise and no one to listen to it but yourself. And such a fellow won't be worth watching.

The birthday party in honor of Mrs. Gronemeyer was a surprise on the guests as none of them knew before they arrived that it was a birthday party. The midnight lunch was fine and we hope Mrs. Gronemeyer many returns of her birthday and we will remember next year that it is on the fourteenth day of December to which you are all cordially invited.

Dec. 24th at Pleasant Hill church you are allowed the privilege to attend a Christmas tree and program. Professor Liken will give some singing by a class of young people he has in charge which in itself will be quite a treat. And the professor himself is all music and a yard wide. Come and see him and you will have a good time.

We are glad the weather has warmed up so some of the Pittsville high school can have school. Get in a little over four days last week.

The program given Sunday evening at the Arpin church was good and the church was full. Boys come and hear them sing and speak even though you don't believe one word of the truth they speak. Come and hear them, then judge them.

FOURTEEN MILE CREEK.

A Jero of Spring Valley, Minn., visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Israel Jero a few days last week.

Clyde Winegardner, who has been working at Ladyman's visited his parents last week.

W. J. Smith is very sick at a speedy recovery. We all wish him a speedy recovery.

Mrs. F. M. Ross, who has been on the sick list, is recovering very slowly.

Chas. Ross and sister Winnie Coggins visited with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Ross, last week.

ALTDORF.

The young people of this vicinity are preparing a play for Christmas. The Christmas exercises will be held Friday evening.

O. L. Jacobs of Finley and B. W. Gates of Sherry were business visitors at O. J. Len's last Thursday. While here each bought a Holstein bull.

P. Wirtz just received a car of bran and other feed.

Henry Huser has gone to the woods to work.

New Olympia Restaurant.

George Papas has rented the floor over Lovin's store for the purpose of putting in a first class restaurant. Frank Wagner has done the papering and decorating and the planing was done by Wm. Hase. It is well put up. A cloak room is off from the hall and he also has a fine kitchen and dining room. It is a very neat place. The place will be opened for business Thursday noon, Dec. 2nd.

—We can fill all your holiday wants at Otto's.

—The finest up to date line of rings and jewelry at rock bottom prices at Hix's, next door to Post Office.

—Doll bodies, heads, wigs, beads, etc. at Johnson & Hill Co. Drug Dept.

—Johnson & Hill Co. Drug Dept. for Xmas gifts.

The division point of the Soo Line was changed to Stevens Point last Sunday. A special train was met by the band and a delegation of citizens. About twenty men will be employed in the office force at that point besides the numerous train men who will make their headquarters in the city.

LOCAL ITEMS.

Woman's Club Meeting.

The Woman's Club met Monday night at the home of Mrs. E. E. Ames. After completing the lesson on David Copperfield as scheduled in the Club calendar, and listening to a most excellent and timely paper on Dickens' Christmas stories by Mrs. Orestes Garrison, a brief dramatization of Dickens' Christmas Carol planned by the Misses Steiner and Farish was given. The part of Scrooge, the close-fisted miser who considered Christmas a humbug, was taken by Mrs. Vaughan, who played the part admirably. Mrs. Harrington, the dutiful Spirit of Christmas, showed Scrooge tableaux representing his Xmas Past, Present and Future which wrought a wonderful transformation in him.

This little diversion from the usual work was appreciated by the Club, which felt that the Christmas spirit already began to pervade the atmosphere.

At the Methodist Church.

Christmas coming on Sunday, this year, the members of the Methodist Episcopal Church and congregation will observe the day with special emphasis. At the morning hour of worship, 10:30, the choir will render Christmas music, and will be assisted by Mrs. Charlotte Lynn Campbell. This will be a very attractive portion of the service. The pastor, Rev. Francis A. Pease, will preach on the theme, "The Song of the Angels." The Sunday school will meet at 10 o'clock as usual. In the evening a Cantata entitled "The Christmas Story," will be given by the Choir and Sunday school, and will be exceedingly interesting. There will be no collection taken at this service, but a silver offering will be received at the door, the proceeds of which will go into the enlarged work of the Sunday school. If you want a seat at either service come early. Remember the hours 10:30 a. m., and 7:30 p. m.

"But surely you had no experience as a traveler 50 years ago," says her friend.

SAVED OLD LADY'S HAIR

"My mother used to have a very bad humor on her head which the doctors called an eczema, and for it I had two different doctors. Her head was very sore and her hair nearly all fell out in spite of what they both did. One day her niece came in and they were speaking of how her hair was falling out and the doctors did it no good. She says, 'Aunt, why don't you try Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment?' Mother did and they helped her. In six months' time the itching, burning and scaling of her head was over and her hair began growing. To-day she feels much in debt to Cuticura Soap and Ointment for the fine head of hair she has for an old lady of seventy-four."

"My own case was an eczema in my feet. As soon as the cold weather came my feet would itch and burn and then they would crack open and bleed. Then I thought I would flee to my mother's friends, Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment. I did for four or five winters, and now my feet are as smooth as any one's. Does Your Cat Cough? Poor puss! As if the immemorial thunders of the doctor's office, as a voice of night and of eating canary birds whenever she gets the chance were not enough, the doctors have just discovered that for years she has been responsible for the spread of diphtheria. Dr. G. J. A. A. of Manchester, England, is having traced an epidemic of this disease in a suburb of that city to a pet cat belonging to one of his patients, has found, after much clever investigation, that all cats are peculiarly susceptible to diphtheria. The doctor therefore is warning all families who own cats to watch them carefully, and if they develop coughs, to forbid their being hugged and petted. Dr. A. A. further recommends that if the cough persists and the cat begins to grow thin to have the animal destroyed at once. "The only really safe way," he says, is to let the first wheeze be puss's death warrant."

STUDY OF CRIMINALS

Bavarian State's Attorney Writes Article on Juvenile Courts.

Munich Prosecutor Finds Less Than 500 Youthful Offenses in One Year Among More Than 600,000 People.

New York.—States Attorney Rupprecht of Munich, Bavaria, has written an article for the Munchener Medizinische Wochenschrift on juvenile courts and the study of the juvenile delinquent as the result of his experience as a practitioner in the children's court in Munich, concerning which the Medical Record says:

"One result of the establishment of children's courts should be a more intelligent study of the juvenile delinquent. The boy criminal differs radically from the girl offender. Youthful offenders differ from adults. The children also differ, as to the relative frequency of offenses, according as they dwell in agricultural, manufacturing or commercial communities. "In that city Munich the children's court takes cognizance of all offenders between the ages of fifteen and eighteen, inclusive. The lad or girl of healthy stock must at this period be regarded as potentially a criminal, because character and will are undeveloped, and experience has not yet had its influence. Such must not be confronted with delinquency."

"Munich has but a small contingent of youthful criminals. In a population of nearly 500,000 there are less than five hundred serious offenses a year committed by juveniles. Petty offenses multiply this five fold, but with these we are not concerned. "Theft is the great offense of youth. It overshadows all others so far that the latter are almost forgotten. The boy steals in an unpremeditated fashion, while the girl has a plan. Boys tend to steal 'junk'—not to sell, but for making playthings. Girls tend to appropriate cosmetic articles. "We have heard much as to moving picture shows tempting boys to steal. After burglaries and highway robberies, the theft of moving pictures is the most common offense. The boy steals in an unpremeditated fashion, while the girl has a plan. Boys tend to steal 'junk'—not to sell, but for making playthings. Girls tend to appropriate cosmetic articles."

The boy steals in an unpremeditated fashion, while the girl has a plan. Boys tend to steal 'junk'—not to sell, but for making playthings. Girls tend to appropriate cosmetic articles."

"The boys in Munich also steal in connection with deep laid plans for visiting the frontier and fighting savages. But the Bavarian youth must be much more long headed than the Anglo-Saxon in this respect, for he usually needs a horse and firearms before setting forth. He robs the family strong box for the sinews of war. "Chris sometimes steal to make a present to a favorite school teacher. One took the flowers of a grave for this purpose."

"When caught in the act of a theft a boy usually confesses, repents and refuses to betray his associates. A girl lies until the last minute, and then endeavors to throw the blame on some one else. Boys almost always rob in bands; girls usually act alone. "A boy seldom robs his employer, but some outsiders; the reverse is the case with girls, who, since they suffer from the same temptations, must necessarily rob their mistresses. "The chief value of Rupprecht's study is that it deals with normal subjects, the policies advisable in dealing with whom have hitherto received comparatively little attention."

CHINESE SAILORS FEED FISH

Crew of Steamer Chatham Throw Food Overboard for Member Lost by Drowning.

Boston.—So that their drowned brother might not feel the pangs of hunger while on the spiritual highway to the other world, 23 Chinese sailors, comprising the crew of the British steamer Chatham, which reached Boston the other day from the west coast of South America, threw rice and other foodstuffs into the sea all the way from off the coast of Brazil to Boston lights. Li Chow was the lone lamented Chow. The board while engaged in boat drill when the steamer was off the coast of Brazil. The Chatham was stopped and lifeboats launched, but before the speediest of them got within twenty feet of Chow he disappeared beneath the waves. Almost immediately after the steamer resumed her way the rest of the Chinese on board began stinging themselves and casting overboard what they saved from their own fare so that Chow might not go hungry. "That the Chatham encountered severe weather in her 10,000-mile journey was amply testified to by damaged deck fittings and smashed deck houses. The steamer was very bad hit when passing through the Straits of Michigan, maintaining most of the time a blizzard that kicked up waves, which in washing over her decks tore up steamships and washed all movable objects overboard. The steamer's hospital was smashed in by one lumber and several of the crew had to cling with all their might lest they be carried overboard by the receding waves. MONKEYS ON WILD RAMPAGE

Six Mischievous Little Animals Break From Cage and Take Refuge in Warehouse.

London.—Half a dozen trained monkeys gave a free exhibition to several hundred Clerkenwell children. Escaping from a cage in a stable near Rosebery avenue, the monkeys soon overran the neighborhood, scampering across roofs and running up chimneys. They entered a warehouse by a broken window at which they chattered and grinned until their keeper recaptured them several hours later. The crowd was chiefly made up of the antics of the smallest, which bit and otherwise irritated his companions until they attacked him by a combined attack punished him. The owner of the monkeys, a music hall showman, was chiefly concerned lest the delicate animals should catch cold in the nipping east wind. The beginning, middle and end of love is a sigh.

NEW FRENCH THEATER PLAN

Perambulating House Seating 1,500 Will Travel by Aid of Automobile.

Paris.—A perambulating theater, fitted with the latest scenic appliances and seating 1,500 persons, will take the road in France next April. As in the days of Moliere, performances will be given where there is a favored spot, but instead of the chariots and horses there will be a train of eight automobiles, drawing 21 cars. The idea originated with Firmin Gémier, a well-known Parisian theater director, and it became public through the fine arts report of Deputy Paul Goussier. The following details of the scheme were given by M. Gémier: "Local and provincial theaters usually are insufficient for the dramatic productions. Moreover, many communities have no theaters. The whole idea is based on decentralization and the wish to carry culture to the provinces. I intend to give the classics

CHICAGO'S MONUMENT TO GOETHE

THE GOETHE MEMORIAL.

CHICAGO.—Preparations for the erection of the memorial to the poet Goethe in this city are progressing, and art lovers are congratulating themselves on the fact that Chicago is to have a monument that is at once unique and artistic in design. The model selected was the work of Prof. Hermann Hahn of Munich. It is surmounted by an ideal figure of Youth, and bears a portrait of the poet in relief.

IGNORANCE OF LAWS

Much Money Lost Through Carelessness in Using Coins.

Jewelers Guilty Every Day of Committing Criminal Offense in Filing One Side of Coin Smooth—Other Offenses.

Chicago.—Thousands of dollars are lost yearly by big firms through ignorance or carelessness in observing the federal laws governing abuse of coins. Just lately in Chicago a piano company came to grief in this way. Had they asked the proper authorities (the information would have been furnished gratis) or had they looked up the law they would have found in Section 105, public act No. 350, these words:

"Whoever fraudulently, by any art, way or means shall deface, mutilate, impair, diminish, falsify or lighten the gold or silver coins which have been or which may hereafter be coined in the mint of the United States shall be fined not more than $2,000 and imprisoned not more than five years. "Much trouble and expense would have been saved the firm and the government had the law only been read. It all happened in this way: Some clever advertiser conceived the idea of an "ad" of metal just the size of a dime, with the wording and printing placed in such a way that at first glance it would appear as a dime. "To change the complexion" of a coin also is an offense. That means to dip silver in gold. Only a few days ago a "lot" of shirt sets were confiscated and sent to Washington. The sets were made of Panama halpennies gilded. Carelessness of the law again. "The only kind of coin that can be worn is that so completely mutilated that there can be no chance at all of passing it; for example, the filigreed dimes that the Mexicans make."

SILK FARM STARTED IN U. S.

Syrian Is Raising Worms and Will Erect Looms in Louisiana—First in South.

New Orleans.—An experiment in silk culture which is watched with interest by the United States department of agriculture as well as the silk industry at large has been started by a Syrian, Kallil Joseph, near Picayune, La., about 92 miles from New Orleans. Mr. Joseph has raised many thousands of silkworms from eggs hatched on a farm two miles from Picayune. He says Picayune is an ideal section for silk culture on account of the numbers of wild mulberry trees there. The silk made from the cocoons is as fine a quality as any made in Syria, which is famous for its silk worm farms. Mr. Joseph has formed a company capitalized at $100,000, and will erect looms and handle the silk in much the same way as it is manufactured in the great silk centers. The officers of the company are: Kallil Joseph, president; Elias Salk, vice-president; W. A. Stockstill, secretary, and Charles Marcelle, treasurer. The Kallil plant will be the first bonafide silk farm in the south, and the factory will be the first in the country where the raw silk is transformed into the finished product at the same place where the silk is spun from the cocoons.

COWS IN HILARIOUS FROLIC

Make Bacchanalian Raid on Cider Mill, Easily Accumulating Joyous Old Jags.

Rocksburg, N. J.—When the workers at the Warren county cider mill, near here, went home the other day at noon they left the trough of apple mash uncovered, with the result that a herd of ten cows from an adjoining farm, wandering in from the pasture, came upon the cider. The farmers were attracted to the place a short time later. The cows were frisking about, kicking into the air and assuming attitudes that in a human being would have been described as hilarious. Puzzled at these antics, the farmers began to wonder when one after another of the cows sank to the ground. Believing the prevalent epidemic of hog cholera had reached the supposed immune cows, they summoned a veterinarian, whose diagnosis relieved the anxiety of the situation. "Just a Jersey cider jag of untoward proportion," was his verdict. The cows' heads were bathed in ice water and in a short time they recovered, since which time they have refused all food, subsisting on copious draughts from the pasture spring.

THRESHING RETURNS FROM WESTERN CANADA.

They Reveal Larger Averages of Wheat and Oats Than Anticipated.

The returns from the grain fields of Western Canada as revealed by the work of the threshers, show much larger yields than were anticipated. The crop was ripening early and early to give an estimate of the crop as a whole, but individual yields selected from various points throughout Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta show that the farmers there as a rule have had reason to be thankful over the results. Excellent yields are reported from many points in Manitoba and a large district of Saskatchewan has turned out well, while the central portion of Alberta is splendid. There will be shown at the land exposition at St. Louis a sample of the Marquis' wheat—a new variety and one that appears to be well adapted to the soil and climate of Western Canada—that yielded 52 bushels to the acre. The exhibit and statements will be supported by affidavits from the growers. This wheat weighs well, and being a hard variety will find a ready market at the highest prices obtainable for a first-class article. It is interesting to point out that a field of one hundred acres of this wheat would give its producers 5,200 bushels. Sold at 85 cents a bushel would give him $442 an acre. Counting all the cost of interest on land at $20 an acre, getting the land ready for crop, seed sowing, harvesting and marketing, the entire cost of production would not exceed $8 an acre, leaving the handsome net profit of $37 an acre. Is there any crop that would yield a better return than this, with the same labor and initial expense? Cotton fields will not do it, apple orchards with their great expense of cultivation and the risk to run from the various enemies of the fruit cannot begin to do it. While wheat is considered an exceptional case just now is presented, there is no doubt that this man's experience may be duplicated by others who care to follow his example. As has been said the growing of this wheat is but in its infancy, and wheat growing is still largely confined to other older varieties that do not yield as abundantly. Even with these we have records before us of farmers who have grown 40 bushels to the acre, others 35, some 30, and others again 25 bushels. Taking even 20 bushels, and some farmers report that amount, it is found that the returns from such a yield would be $17 an acre. This wheat will cost to get to market, including all expenses, about $8 an acre, and the farmers will still have a net profit of about $9 an acre. Certainly the provinces of Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba are progressing, settlement is increasing and there is a general contentment all over the country. The social conditions are splendid, the climate is excellent, and there is every condition to make the settler satisfied. At the farming congress, held at Spokane in October, wheat shown by the Alberta Government, took the silver cup, awarded by the Governor of the State. It completely outclassed all other specimens on exhibition and it was but an ordinary selection, hundreds of fields in Alberta and Saskatchewan being able to duplicate it. There are still available thousands of homesteads, as well as large areas of first-class land—that is being offered for sale at low prices. The agent of the Canadian Government from whom the above facts have been learned expects that the rush to Canada will next year largely exceed the numbers who have gone this year.

SEEN AND HEARD IN WISCONSIN

Racine.—The third annual convention of the National Gas and Gasoline Engine Trades' association opened in this city with 236 delegates from nearly every state in the Union. M. O. Leeb of Cincinnati, O., president of the association, who arrived in the city Sunday, said that he believed the convention would be the most successful of the three held since the association was organized four years ago. The convention was held at Dania hall, where many exhibits of gas and gasoline engines and accessories have already been arranged. The Racine Engine and Iron company, manufacturers of gas and gasoline engines, may move its plant from Racine to La Crosse in view of favorable offers by the La Crosse Commercial association. Madison.—An examination of all persons desiring to qualify as tuberculin testers will be held by the state live stock sanitary board at the college of agriculture of the University of Wisconsin on December 21. The new Wisconsin law requires that all cattle sold for dairy purposes or breeding must be tested with tuberculin and thereby proved to be free from tuberculous disease. The transfer is made. Only persons who are certified by the state live stock board are qualified to perform the tests. Milwaukee.—Spurred by the woman whose hand he sought in marriage, Marco Markowski must spend nine days in the house of correction for attempting to take the life of Marie Banowicz, 1017 Hilberia street, to whom he professed passionate devotion. When Marco was turned down he declared he would take his and her life, according to testimony. He succeeded in slashing the woman's jaw with a pocket knife, but then fled the city. Racine.—A cook stove in the kitchen of Rev. V. Minberger, 1004 High street, exploded with a report that was heard for half a mile. The wife of the minister had just placed coal in the stove, when the explosion occurred. Had she been in the room she would undoubtedly have been killed. It is believed that the explosion was due to gas or a piece of dynamite in the coal.

Wausau.—A macadamized road through the state from Ashland to Milwaukee is the project which Julius Thielman, Merrill, R. C. Thielman, Tomahawk, and others residing in the Wisconsin river valley have started. Both of the men named were in Ashland this week and held a meeting with the Business Men's association to interest them in the movement.

Janeau.—The longest trial of an action in the court history of Dodge county came to an end when the jury in the contest over the will of the late Janet Nisbet of Trenton returned a verdict sustaining the will. Janet Nisbet was the sole survivor of her family. Her wealth was appraised at nearly $150,000, only a small portion of which was disposed of by the will.

Plymouth.—Fire destroyed the plant of the Western Parlor Furniture company. Insurance was carried to the amount of $15,000. P. M. Volk, president of the company, who is the sole owner of the factory, and was negotiating with Milwaukee parties for the sale of the property for $25,000, it is understood. The plant will probably be rebuilt.

Madison.—Thus far 462 young men and two young women have entered the college at the University of Wisconsin. Eleven states are represented and there is a marked increase in the number of students from outside the state. Indications are that the total enrollment will reach 475.

Edgerton.—Mrs. Keeley of this city attempted to revive her stove fire by means of kerosene. The can exploded and wrapped her in flames. The woman was badly burned, but is expected to recover. This is the second accident of the sort in Edgerton in a week.

Racine.—Conductor H. H. Hargis and brakeman Wittman miraculously escaped injury when the caboose in which they were sleeping rolled down a forty foot embankment while their train was being "kicked" about the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul road yards.

Janeville.—Railroad men in the big shanty here say that they do not believe that the Brotherhood of Railroad Engineers will strike at this time. They believe that the roads will grant the increase in pay asked by the men without any trouble.

Malden Rock.—Peter Lewis, a wealthy farmer of Lund, cut his big shanty here say that they do not believe that the Brotherhood of Railroad Engineers will strike at this time. They believe that the roads will grant the increase in pay asked by the men without any trouble.

Beloit.—The Salvation Army will dedicate a new building, which with its site, cost $100,000, and will be a high bluff overlooking Lake Michigan at Donges bay. Mrs. Ferdinand Caesar was found frozen to death. The woman was seated on a large rock overlooking the stormy sea which raged in mountainous waves beneath her. The violent wind tore her gray locks from the side of her head and swayed her body like a reed in a gale. The searching party had been looking for the woman all night and did not believe her dead when they first saw her gazing out on the water with wide-open eyes. Mrs. Caesar was the wife of a farmer at Donges bay.

Racine.—The corporate limits of Racine will be extended, and the city increased at least 5,000. The common council decided to annex property west and north of the city. Superior.—Principal H. A. Schofield has been chosen to succeed A. C. Shong, who left the principalship of the Central high school to accept a position in Milwaukee. Janesville.—Martha Wolske of Johnstone, a domestic employed at Whitewater, committed suicide by swallowing ten grains of strychnine. Poor health was given as the reason for the act.

Superior.—The common council has voted to return to the estate of the late John Albert Erdman, which was killed by a train, a charge of illegal sales of liquor and killed himself the night after he was released on bail.

Oconomowoc.—The sixth annual exhibition of the Oconomowoc Fair, which will be held at the Auditorium next week for a five days' session. The Wisconsin Fair Club will be in competition with 16 other silver cups, and $150 in cash prizes.

They Reveal Larger Averages of Wheat and Oats Than Anticipated.

The returns from the grain fields of Western Canada as revealed by the work of the threshers, show much larger yields than were anticipated. The crop was ripening early and early to give an estimate of the crop as a whole, but individual yields selected from various points throughout Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta show that the farmers there as a rule have had reason to be thankful over the results. Excellent yields are reported from many points in Manitoba and a large district of Saskatchewan has turned out well, while the central portion of Alberta is splendid. There will be shown at the land exposition at St. Louis a sample of the Marquis' wheat—a new variety and one that appears to be well adapted to the soil and climate of Western Canada—that yielded 52 bushels to the acre. The exhibit and statements will be supported by affidavits from the growers. This wheat weighs well, and being a hard variety will find a ready market at the highest prices obtainable for a first-class article. It is interesting to point out that a field of one hundred acres of this wheat would give its producers 5,200 bushels. Sold at 85 cents a bushel would give him $442 an acre. Counting all the cost of interest on land at $20 an acre, getting the land ready for crop, seed sowing, harvesting and marketing, the entire cost of production would not exceed $8 an acre, leaving the handsome net profit of $37 an acre. Is there any crop that would yield a better return than this, with the same labor and initial expense? Cotton fields will not do it, apple orchards with their great expense of cultivation and the risk to run from the various enemies of the fruit cannot begin to do it. While wheat is considered an exceptional case just now is presented, there is no doubt that this man's experience may be duplicated by others who care to follow his example. As has been said the growing of this wheat is but in its infancy, and wheat growing is still largely confined to other older varieties that do not yield as abundantly. Even with these we have records before us of farmers who have grown 40 bushels to the acre, others 35, some 30, and others again 25 bushels. Taking even 20 bushels, and some farmers report that amount, it is found that the returns from such a yield would be $17 an acre. This wheat will cost to get to market, including all expenses, about $8 an acre, and the farmers will still have a net profit of about $9 an acre. Certainly the provinces of Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba are progressing, settlement is increasing and there is a general contentment all over the country. The social conditions are splendid, the climate is excellent, and there is every condition to make the settler satisfied. At the farming congress, held at Spokane in October, wheat shown by the Alberta Government, took the silver cup, awarded by the Governor of the State. It completely outclassed all other specimens on exhibition and it was but an ordinary selection, hundreds of fields in Alberta and Saskatchewan being able to duplicate it. There are still available thousands of homesteads, as well as large areas of first-class land—that is being offered for sale at low prices. The agent of the Canadian Government from whom the above facts have been learned expects that the rush to Canada will next year largely exceed the numbers who have gone this year.

LEST WE FORGET.

A Critic Reminds Us How Our People Have Bucked Progress.

We of this big republic complacently add to the glory of our national achievements and are not without temptation to acclaim them as proof of superior craft and judgment.

But herein do we forget that we are on record as having cast our vote against every move that has contributed to the present century's development.

We raised our voices in contemptuous protest against the first projected railroads. And the locomotive waited its signal from the people it would not yet have started.

When the electric telegraph was shown to us we brushed it aside as a toy and laughed its inventor to scorn who he offered to sell us his rights for a few thousand dollars.

We put into jail as an impostor the first man who brought authentic cable news. We broke to pieces Howe's sewing machine as an invention calculated to ruin the working classes, and we did the same thing to the harvester and the blower.

We scorned the typewriter as a plaything.

We gathered together in mass meetings of indignation at the first proposals to install electric trolley lines, and when Mr. Bell told us he had invented an instrument by means of which we might talk to one another across the town we responded with scornful ridicule, and only the recklessness among us contributed to its being—Adapted Monthly.

HUMAN DISSECTION.

Surgery and the Anatomists in the Olden Days.

For a long time Alexandria was the only medical center of the world, and the physician Galen, born about 130 A. D., had to journey from Rome to the African city even to see a skeleton.

He sent his students to the German battlefields to dissect the bodies of the ancient enemies, while he himself used upon a corpse resembling a man bones.

Human dissection was revived in Professor in the fourteenth century, when a Madonna Manolonna, later was professor of anatomy, undoubtedly one of the first women doctors, if not the very first. Leonardo da Vinci, painter of "The Last Supper," was a great anatomist, but dissection had fallen into disuse when Vesalius finally revived it about the middle of the sixteenth century.

Even in comparatively modern times anatomists have been the object of attacks by the populace. In 1705 Dr. John Shippen of Philadelphia was mobbed as a grave robber. Doctors' riots in New York occurred twice, the first in 1788 and the second in 1822, the latter being the result of the fact that the medical students robbed graves continually. It was the lack of opportunity to obtain subjects regularly that led to the practice of grave robbing and originated what Dr. Keene calls "a set of the lowest possible villanies—the resurrectionists."

Do You Help Others?

It has been truly said that for every one who stands alone there are twelve to lean against him. How is it with you? Are you one of those against whom others lean for help and encouragement, or are you leaning against some one and drawing your inspiration and courage from him? It depends entirely on yourself whether you take a positive attitude in your work or whether your negative characteristics shall dominate. It is much easier to go through life making a little effort as possible, but to make life yield even a small modicum of what it holds for us, if you are working earnestly and hoping for success there is only one way to attain it, and that is through your positive characteristics.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Julius Caesar.

Caesar was assassinated March 15, 44 B. C., and was at the time of his death fifty-six years old. It is not alone as a military genius that his fame endures. By almost common consent he was the most remarkable all round man of antiquity—masterfully great not only as general, but as writer, statesman and administrator. In addition to these high accomplishments he was a great mathematician, philologist, architect and jurist. His conversational powers were extraordinary, and from all accounts he was in his manner one of the most attractive of men.

Henry IV. of France.

Henry IV. of France was a drum beater in the adage, "Spare the rod and spoil the child." In a letter to the governor of his son he wrote in October, 1607: "Madame—I have to complain that you have not informed me of having forgiven my son. I desire and request that he be reconciled to me, and that you be so good as to inform me of his recovery."

ARPIN

A. J. Cowell drove to Grand Rapids returning home Saturday. A very interesting program is being prepared by Miss LaVigne at Dist. No. 3 to be given Thursday evening, Dec. 22nd. Everybody is cordially invited to attend. There will also be a program and tree at the hall Friday evening, Dec. 23rd.

H. F. Roehrig made a business trip to Minnesota the fore part of the week.

Mrs. A. J. Cowell and Mrs. Oscar Dingeldien were Grand Rapids shoppers Thursday.

Among the Grand Rapids visitors Saturday were: H. F. Roehrig, Row Winetrenner and Miss Mary LaVigne.

A large crowd attended the Temperance lecture at the Presbyterian church Sunday evening given by the Bethel people.

The house of John Nimm was completely destroyed by fire Friday. It caught fire from the stove pipe. Mrs. Nimm was home alone at the time and was unable to save anything. There is no insurance.

Rev. Postlethwaite of Marshallfield preached a very interesting sermon at the Presbyterian church Friday evening. There was a large attendance.

Don't forget to attend the song service at Arpin church Sabbath morning. Sunday school immediately after. The meeting was well attended at the Arpin church Friday evening and Mr. Postlethwaite said he would come any other time the people would come out to hear him. We'll all go again won't we? The sleigh ride that night was quite a treat. The roads running west and east have no sleighing but the north and south road is good sleighing for as little snow as we have.

Sheep have had no hay or grain as yet.

Thursday evening, Dec. 22nd at Dist. No. 2 Hansen, Miss Johnson will give one of her best entertainments. Those who were at her last Thanksgiving entertainment, know I am telling the truth when I say she is hard to beat, and those who don't know better come and be convinced.

We believe the farmers insurance company's annual meeting will be held in Vesper this year so we may all attend if we want to.

Remember the Vesper butter maker is one of the fellows that gets good watching, although he has no chance to steal and if he did he'd be put in jail till he'd make good. Follows, he's alright only he can't make butter without cream. If this is a cooperative economy, cooperate with it and bring your cream and he will show you he's the best there is.

You believe if you point out the dishonesty of everyone else you will soon be like the cricket making a noise and no one to listen to it but yourself. And such a fellow won't be worth watching.

The birthday party in honor of Mrs. Groumeyer was a surprise on the guests as none of them knew before they arrived that it was a birthday party. The midnight lunch was fine and we hope Mrs. Groumeyer many returns of her birthday and we will remember next year that it is on the fourteenth day of December, to which you are all cordially invited.

Dec. 24th at Pleasant Hill church you are allowed the privilege to attend a Christmas tree and program. Professor Likes will give some singing by a class of young people he has in charge which in itself will be quite a treat. And the professor himself is all music and a yard wide. Come and see him and you will have a good time.

We are glad the weather has warmed up some so the Pittsville high school can have school. Got in a little over four days last week.

The program given Sunday evening at the Arpin church was good and the church was full. Boys come and hear them sing and speak even though you don't believe one word of the truth they speak. Come and hear them, then judge them.

Woman's Club Meeting.

The Woman's Club met Monday night at the home of Mrs. E. E. Ames. After completing the lesson on David Copperfield as scheduled in the Club calendar, and listening to a most excellent and timely paper on Dickens' Christmas stories by Mrs. Crestes Garrison, a brief dramatization of Dickens Christmas Carol planned by the Misses Stetzer and Parrish was given. The part of Scrooge, the close-fisted miser who considered Christmas a humbug, was taken by Mrs. Vaughan, who played the part admirably. Mrs. Harrington, the dainty Spirit of Christmas, showed Scrooge tableaux representing his Xmas Past, Present and Future which wrought a wonderful transformation in him.

This little diversion from the usual work was appreciated by the Club, which felt that the Christmas spirit already began to pervade the atmosphere.

At the Methodist Church.

Christmas coming on Sunday, this year, the members of the Methodist Episcopal Church and congregation will observe the day with special worship. At the morning hour of worship, 10:30, the choir will render Christmas music, and will be assisted by Mrs. Chalrotie Lynn Campbell. This will be a very attractive portion of the service. The pastor, Rev. Francis A. Pease, will preach on the theme, "The Song of the Angels." The Sunday school will meet at 12 o'clock as usual. In the evening a Cantata entitled "The Christmas Story," will be given by the Choir and Sunday school, and will be decidedly interesting. There will be no collection taken at this service, but a silver offering will be received at the door, the proceeds of which will go into the enlarged work of the Sunday school. If you want a seat at either service, call early. Remember the hours 10:30 a. m. and 7:30 p. m.
